Red Cross Production Room Busy Place

The production room at 193 East Center street hums with activity as women of Marion city and county complete garment after garment for men, women and children of the war-devastated countries. One of the many groups devoting their time to this humanitarian work includes the following: Standing, left to right: Mrs. Albert Merkle, Mrs. Fred Sherwood, Mrs C. H. Geddis, Mrs. Homer Waddell, vice chairman, Mrs. John T. McNamara, chairman, Mrs. I. H. Taylor, Mrs. W P. Sharrock. Seated, left to right: Mrs. F. P. Haas, Mrs. Otto Long, Mrs. C. J. Zimmerman, Mrs. Hugo Malo and Mrs. J. F. Ohmansiek.

This is one of a series of stories telling about some of the services of the Marion county chapter of the American Red Cross. The series is published to aid in Marion county's part in the annual fund campaign. Sixty-five per cent of the contribution will remain in Marion county to carry on the chapter's work.

During the war more than $2,000,000 worth of garments were made and sent to persons overseas, 250,000 convalescent kit bags distributed through Red Cross hospital service; more than 3,000,000 comfort articles and garments for hospitalized service personnel were distributed here and overseas.

Many local groups and individuals should be given credit for their participation in the production program of the chapter. Countless hours were spent in soliciting interest, purchasing materials, sewing, inspecting, and packing completed garments. Appreciation goes to all church groups, King's Daughters, Red Cross branches, City hospital board, sororities, lodge auxiliaries, clubs, Waddell Ladies' Home W.C.T.U. groups, Navy club and to hundreds of individuals of Marion city and county.

The program of volunteer production consists at present of sewing of garments for foreign relief and is most important to those persons impoverished by ravages of World War II. Mrs. John T. McNamara is the chairman of this program, with Mrs Homer Waddell and Mrs Paul Knauss as co-chairmen and Mrs. E. G. Siefert as knitting chairman.

A total of 4,857 hours of volunteer service were spent during the past year by women of Marion county in sewing 2,866 garments for foreign war relief while 7,393 hours were spent in knitting 25 garments for foreign war relief and 308 garments for the armed forces. Shipments of garments for foreign war relief consisted of girls' cotton dresses, women's sweaters, mufflers, beanies, girls' capes, layettes, boys' overalls and boys' shorts.

BOXCAR CRISIS IMPERILS JOBS

Widespread Unemployment Is Threatened as Ohio Feels Pinch.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21 — Widespread unemployment in certain sections of Ohio threatened today due to the current shortages of boxcars.

East-to-west traffic in this highly industrialized state was particularly hard hit. Northern manufacturers declared their situation was an emergency.

An Associated Press survey disclosed these disquieting developments:

Akron — The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. faces partial curtailment of production. Inability of the Robinson Clay Products Co to ship products is interfering with the veterans' housing program

Toledo-Carey-Sandusky Area— One major lime producing plant in this, the world's largest lime producing area, was closed and others were on verge. In Toledo the situation was termed serious after the National Milling Co., largest soft wheat mill in the country, closed at noon yesterday

Other Toledo mills were reducing operations 10 to 30 per cent Lime industries were down to about 40 per cent capacity and they were getting only 10 per cent of their car requirements.

L H. Baughman, traffic manager of the Toledo Scale Co. and president of the Great Lakes Regional Advisory Board, said that of 250 manufacturers reporting in questionnaires, only 51 per cent were getting sufficient cars to produce fully.

John Forshey, representing the Toledo Board of Trade, said he feared collapse of some industrial lines if the boxcar situation continues, and he agreed with Baughman that the east was in worse shape than the west.

SUPPLY HERE AMPLE: MANSFIELD HARD HIT

Marion Chamber of Commerce officials said the boxcar shortage here was not as serious as in many other cities. Receipts of cars on some occasions has been delayed, but usually for short periods, they stated. In Mansfield the Chamber of Commerce said the city was hard hit because most of the products from its factories are bulky and the finished goods require more boxcar space than the raw materials which are shipped in Mansfield trucking firms reported jams with only about half as many trucks as could be used, according to The Associated Press Storage space is jammed now and each day, executives say, manufacturers are nearer the day of complete shutdown.

Red Cross Nurse Identified As Rail Disaster Heroine

By The Associated Press

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 21 — "Pittsburgh Sally", heroine of the wreck of the Pennsylvania Railroad's "Red Arrow" near here Tuesday, was identified today as Sally Ann Ortega, 26, a former Red Cross nurse from North Gergen, N J

Sally Ann, who is in Altoona hospital with a smashed left hand, kept passengers in "Pullman 680" in good cheer. While rescue workers aided the injured, she kept up a rapid-fire conversation with the passengers in car "680" which plunged 150 feet down an embankment.

Other passengers didn't know—and Sally Ann didn't either until rescued—that her left hand was smashed, as it was pinned in the wreckage. This, she said, has caused her biggest trouble in the hospital right now. Always left-

Truman Asks Money Grant For Liberated Nations' Aid

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—President Truman asked congress today to vote $350,000,000 for relief aid to people of liberated countries abroad.

In a message to the legislators, the President noted that full scale supply operations by UNRRA are rapidly drawing to a close, and said:

"On humanitarian grounds and in the light of our own self-interest as well, we must not leave the task unfinished. We can not abandon the peoples still in need."

UNRRA—the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation — is scheduled to wind up its operations March 31, although windup activities under way will continue beyond that date.

Mr. Truman's recommendation was only for liberated countries United States relief activities in occupied countries, such as Germany and Austria, are financed by the war department from its appropriations

(White House aides said Former President Herbert Hoover has not yet reported to Mr Truman on his investigation looking to long-term plans for rehabilitation of occupied areas.)

UNRRA Complaints Heard

There have been complaints in congress about UNRRA's administration methods. Some legislators contend its services have been used to support governments uncooperative with the United States.

The President made no reference to this, but recommended that future United States relief assistance be given directly rather that through an international organization, and "be administered under United States control."

Mr. Truman said the money he asks is designed "for the urgent relief needs for the balance of the year." He added·

"The most critical period will be in the spring and summer months, when UNRRA shipments will cease and their harvests are not yet available.

Swift Action Necessary

"Swift legislative action is necessary if our help is not to come too late."

While the aid was asked for "liberated" countries suffering from the "ravages of war," Mr. Truman did not mention any specific nations.

The President said that in some liberated countries, "UNRRA will have achieved its objective fully" when UNRRA's supply operations cease. He explained that means they will be again "self supporting so far as the basic essentials of life are concerned."

Couple Overcome By Heater Fumes

A Marion married couple are in City hospital today in serious condition after being overcome in their bedroom last night by carbon monoxide fumes from a ventless gas heater.

Neither had regained consciousness at noon today. They are Presley Wingo, 27, and Virginia Wingo, 17, of 278 Senate avenue. Sleeping in an upstairs bedroom at the home of Mr. Wingo's father, Wilbur Wingo, they were found unconscious in bed this morning by members of the family.

The fire department inhalator was called and firemen worked on each for ten minutes. They were taken to the hospital in the Gunder and Hughes ambulances.

Labor Government Issues Grim "Working Pattern" for Britain

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Feb. 21—The Labor party government issued today a grim white paper called "a working pattern for the nation." It told the austerity-weary Britons they must increase production or risk the "foundations of our national life."

The white paper—designation of important official documents issued by the government—said:

The nation needs coal, production, foreign currency.

The private individual must continue rationing, forego hopes of shorter hours, increase his individual output in mine, mill, factory.

Organized labor must abandon "industrial arrangements which restrict production, prices or employment."

Industry must export one-fourth its products and accept a stern system of priority allotments of manpower and supplies.

The war-strained nation, currently caught in the pincers of an unprecedented fuel shortage and close-drawn financial plight, was warned in a soberly worded white paper that "this is a critical moment in our national affairs."

Prime Minister Attlee told the people that desperately needed coal was priority number one for 1947 and more workers priority number two.

Reflecting crippling effects of the winter's industrial crisis, the white paper set the export goal for 1947 at 140 per cent of prewar levels—in comparison with the 175 per cent government economists say Britain needs for a normal standard of living.

Exempt From Service

To get more coal, the report said the government would exempt miners from military service for five years; would recruit 35,000 new miners; provide more homes for miners; seek to raise the production goal from 259 tons per man in 1946 to the 308 tons per man mined in the peak year of 1937; and institute a nationwide fuel rationing system.

To increase the labor force, the

TAFT PUSHES SHOWDOWN ON BUDGET SLASH

Seeks Quick Decision About Amount of Cut To Be Inflicted.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) called for a senate showdown today on whether to offer federal agencies—principally the army and navy—$1,500,000,000 more than the house did in voting 239 to 159 to trim $6,000,000,000 off President Truman's budget.

Taft, who heads the Republican policy committee, told a reporter he saw no reason why a decision should not be reached quickly on the proposal by Senator Millikin (R-Colo) to put a ceiling of $33,000,000,000 on government costs in the year beginning July 1.

The house specified a "limit" of $31,500,000,000 compared with Mr. Truman's request for $37,500,000,000.

With three or four economy minded exceptions, senate Democrats lined up behind the Millikin suggestion as offering the best escape from what they consider the too-deep cut pledged by the house yesterday.

Sees Taft Triumph

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the senate appropriations committee, who wants to go the full distance with his house Republican colleagues, predicted that Taft and Millikin who would take along about half of the Republicans were certain to win with the lower figure.

"But we may surprise some pepole with the votes we get," Bridges told a reporter. "The public reaction to our stand for a $6,000,000,000 reduction has been good"

This deep a cut would take about $1,750,000,000 away from the $11,200,000,000 President Truman said the armed forces need in the next year. Under the Millikin proposal, the services apparently would lose only odd millions here and there.

Bridges said that while approval of either economy resolution would not bind congress in any but a normal way, the practical effect would likely be much greater than Democrats have contended. They have said generally that the proposed budget cut was only an empty promise.

Believes Slash Will Stick

But the New Hampshire senator said he was sure that if the senate voted the $4,500,000,000 figure, it would hold close to that reduction in voting on individual appropriations bills.

He added that the Republican majority would make every effort to fulfill its economy promise because of the political effect any failure would have.

The $6,000,000,000 cut voted by the house was viewed by Republicans there as clearing the way for a 20 per cent, $3,500,000,000 cut in income taxes later

Senator Knowland (R-Calif) pressed in the senate, however, for action on an amendment to require that $3,000,000,000 of any saving go to debt reduction. He guessed his chances of winning approval as "about even."

On the final roll call, 12 Democrats joined with 227 Republicans in favor of the cut. Those opposed included 157 Democrats, Rep. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) and Rep. Marcantonio (AL-NY).

COLUMBUS IN LIQUOR SIZZLE

"Who's Next?" Is Question as Agent Lists More Names and Dates.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21—The state capital nearly sizzled with anticipation today as it awaited the next hearing in the senate's explosive investigation of the state liquor department.

Folks in the state house buttonholing each other asked "who will be named next? As the five-member investigating committee — weary from a five-hour session yesterday — announced hearings would be resumed next Monday.

Following testimony that liquor enforcement agents - in - charge shrugged off inspectors' reports of violations, the committee ran into a situation involving Frank E Whittemore of Akron, Republican majority leader of the senate

Edmund E. Schuster, former acc liquor inspector who brought a "little black book" compiled during eight years with the liquor department, testified Whittemore once "put pressure" on him.

Wanted Report Altered

The pressure, said Schuster, was that the 78-year-old veteran of the legislature sought to have him alter an unfavorable report about an applicant for an Akron night club permit.

Senator Whittemore, an attorney, later explained to the committee that he was acting for an old client merely "to straighten this agent out."

Schuster reported unfavorably on an application for a liquor permit by Michael Azar of Akron, holding that Michael's father, Dave, was the real owner of the establishment. Dave, the inspector reported, was an alien.

Dave Azar was not true owner of the business, Whittemore declared, and it was on this point he sought to correct Schuster.

Displays Strange Dislike

Throughout his testimony, Schuster displayed a strong dislike for William J. Kelch, present state enforcement chief. Schuster said he was "the straw that broke the camel's back."

Kelch, said the irate former inspector, acted like "a newly appointed corporal in the army who has got his two stripes and wants to show off his power."

Schuster didn't tee off exclusively on state officials, or on the officials of any one administration. His testimony, ranging from 1939 to the present, was a picture of "racketeers muscling in" at least two Cleveland private clubs, of fraustration from sidetracked reports of violations and stone-wall red tape.

Schuster named the Aurelius club and the Sons of Italy of Cleveland as having fallen into the hands of racketeers. He said they formerly were operated by "good people."

Sidetrack Violation Reports

He said district agents-in-charge could and did sidetrack reports of violations and arrests for violations. He said departmental orders forbade an inspector to go over the heads of district agents-in-charge.

This alleged situation he summed up by saying:

"You lose the courage to go out. The same fellows you cite

AFL Official Indorses Curb

Says Workers Who Strike To Make Boss Violate Law Should Lose Rights.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — George O. Lynch, an AFL official, told congress today that workers who strike to force employers to violate the law should be deprived of their rights under the Wagner labor relations act.

Lynch is vice president of the AFL metal trades department. In taking this stand he became the first union official to testify in favor of any major provision of legislation before the senate labor committee.

Committee members have criticized other labor witnesses sharply for what they called a "negative attitude" and failure to offer suggestions on how the laws might be changed to check industrial strife These witnesses included CIO President Philip Murray and AFL Chief William Green

Green, Lynch's boss, did not express his views on the particular section of a bill by Senator Ball (R-Minn) which Lynch endorsed

Besides making many other changes in the Wagner act, Ball's measure would outlaw strikes which compel an employer to violate a provision of the Wagner act or any other law. An example is a strike to force recognition of a union which has not been certified as a bargaining agent by the national labor relations board.

Lynch's indorsement had a reservation He said, without

EDISON MAN KILLED IN GALION MISHAP

L. E. Gregory, Navy Veteran, Dies in Crossing Crash.

Special to The Star

GALION, Feb. 21 — Lowell Everett Gregory of Edison, 21-year-old veteran with three years service in the United States Navy, was killed instantly when his automobile was hit by a northbound New York Central passenger train at 1.30 p. m Thursday, three-quarters of a mile south of Galion, where the Crawford-Morrow County line road joins South Market street road to cross the Big Four railroad.

Gregory who had been living with his wife, the former Ruth McLaughlin, and son, Raymond Lowell Gregory, at the home of the veteran's uncle, Walter Gregory of Edison, had come to Galion Thursday to seek employment. He had left Galion and was driving east on the county line road when he drove into the path of the oncoming passenger train, No. 426, Cincinnati to Cleveland run. Gregory was alone in the car.

The automobile was dragged about 25 yards down the tracks. It was enveloped in flames when reached by John W. Kinsey who operates a nearby meat market. Kinsey took Gregory's body from the car and extinguished the flames while Mrs. Kinsey summoned an ambulance. Dr. O. R.

LOS ANGELES TOLL SET AT 15

City's Worst Explosion in 37 Years Brings Injury to 158.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21—After a night spent probing beneath glaring searchlights, police today fixed the death toll from the city's worst explosion in 37 years at 15 Of the 158 injured sufficiently to require hospitalization, several were feared dying.

The scene, as police and firemen shifted the blasted rubble of an electroplating plant, resembled somewhat a garishly-lit nighttime movie set Except that there was nothing fictional about the carnage

The one-story brick plant of the J. J. O'Connor Corp at 932 East Pico boulevard, a mile from the center of downtown Los Angeles, blew apart in a blinding flash of chemicals at 12 45 p. m. (EST) yesterday But it was hours before a clear picture of the disaster could be pieced together.

Caused by Acid Detonation

Police and fire officials finally agreed that it was caused by the extremely unstable substance kept extremely untable substance kept under pressure in refrigeration because at room temperature it is a seething, heavy liquid. But how the acid was set off remained a mystery.

O'Connor told reporters "we were doing something for the government." This, he later amplified, was the aluminum-plating of hospital beds and chairs under a secret trade process. Not in the plant at the time, he was reported in collapse at his home last night.

Most of the victims of the city's worst blast since the Los Angeles Times' dynamiting killed 20 men in 1910 were in the plant or adjacent heavily damaged buildings, although a 10-year-old

2 Baby Boys Burned To Death at Xenia

By The Associated Press

XENIA, O. Feb. 21 — Two baby boys were burned to death in a kerosene stove explosion last night while their mother, Mrs. Mary Litteral, was away from their trailer home attending a movie on her 24th birthday.

Cecil Throckmorton, 2, and Charles W. Litteral, 15 months, half brothers, died in the accident. Two neighbor children, aged 9 and 13, were with the babies in the trailer but escaped injury.

DRIFTS REACH DEPTH OF 27 INCHES IN VA.

Over-Exertion, Traffic Takes Toll, as Schools Close, Business Slows.

By The Associated Press

The heaviest snowstorm in recent years brought death to at least 27 persons today as the east struggled to maintain business as usual through falling snow that reached a depth of 27 inches in Virginia—and kept falling.

Schools closed, highways were snowbound and business and industry slowed down.

Over-exertion in shoveling snow and traffic accidents were chief causes of death.

Deaths by states were New Jersey, 11, Pennsylvania, 7; New York, 3, Connecticut, 2, District of Columbia, 1; Illinois, 2; Massachusetts, 1.

Snow 27 Inches Deep

Snow 27 inches deep fell in Dickenson county, Va. Schools closed in 28 Virginia counties.

While the full weight of snow hit the eastern seaboard states, extreme cold followed over the Great Lakes and middle west. The temperature registered 21 degrees below zero at Bemidji, Minn, and below zero weather extended over Minnesota and North Dakota.

In New York City 11 inches of snow had fallen and the weather bureau forecast the temperature would go to 10 degrees tonight.

In Washington, D. C., President Truman was forced to forego his customary early morning walk because snow was piled high on capital streets.

Snow, whipped by strong winds, continued to fall in most sections, drifting across highways and railroads which were heavily blanketed during the night.

The storm extended from Maine into North Carolina, but hope of abatement for the middle Atlantic states came with reports that the storm was reduced to flurries in western Pennsylvania.

In New York City the weather bureau said the snow was expected to be a foot deep by noon. It was the worst storm since March 7-8, 1941 when 12.1 inches of snow fell.

8,000 Workers Mobilized

A task force of 8,000 workers struggled to clear New York streets, working in 35-mile-hour winds that whipped among the skyscrapers.

The experience of those who wandered outside was dramatically highlighted in Nottingham, N. H., where two boys, three and four years old, were found asleep last night in deep woods by 250 frantic searches after they had wandered from their homes.

In New England the storm gained in fury during the night, locking highways in drifts that brought out all road-clearing equipment.

In New Jersey two main highways were blocked. Nearly all trains throughout the northeast were running behind schedule.

Everyone had a story to tell of difficulties. One of the most harrowing was that of Mrs. Edward Lamier of Saugus, Mass, who could not reach a hospital in time and gave birth to a healthy boy with two policemen acting as midwives.

2 Die in Pennsylvania

In Pennsylvania two deaths were attributed to highway accidents.

There was one storm death in New York City.

Air travel was disrupted, but officials said they hoped to resume flights as the storm moved seaward tonight.

The storm was Virginia's worst in seven years. Schools at Richmond and in at least 28 counties will be closed until Monday. As snowplows worked to keep main highways open, the snow blanket ranged up to 19 inches in Lee county, in the southwestern tip of the state.

Maryland also reported the storm its worst in several years, with snow up to 15 inches in the western part and more than 10 inches at Baltimore.

The nation's capital was hit hard by a 7-inch snowfall that was blown in drifts by heavy winds. Many government offices closed in midafternoon yesterday to give employes an early start home, but

Critics Give Columbus Showing Of O'Neill Play Mixed Reviews

By JOHN FRYE

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21—Eugene O'Neill hung out a new play last night for an audience that wasn't too sure it liked what it saw and heard but felt that something there was great and good.

The play, "A Moon for the Misbegotten," is almost normal in length and lacking in some of his tricks. It is a story of love and weakness in the Connecticut hills back in 1923.

As a piece of writing, the play is full of poetry. As a piece of drama, it places a tough burden on the backs of its three major characters. For minutes on end the only action is the moving of a chair from one spot to another. All the significant events have happened long before the play opens.

Yet Mary Welch, playing Josie Hogan, the big hill girl; James Dunn, playing James Tyrone Jr., the drunken landlord, and J. M. Kerrigan, playing Phil Hogan, Josie's father, carried this burden, and in the main well.

Needs Cutting

The play badly needs cutting, although this possibly may not seem so urgent once the cast has had enough audiences before it to get into the cadence of O'Neill's poetry.

As much of a story as there is to be told, "A Moon for the Misbegotten" tells of Tyrone's blind search for redemption from a hell of liquor and women, of Josie's effort to give him happiness and at the same time get out of her own hell of being oversize, and of her father's willingness to make something out of it, mainly money, whatever comes.

The play, the first O'Neill work to open off Broadway since 1933 and presented as usual by the Theater Guild, found Ohio critics standing fairly close together, although Bud Kissell of the Columbus Citizen said flatly:

"A competent cast that never muffed a line nor missed a cue wasted their talents on an unimportant play written by Eugene O'Neill, considered America's greatest playwright."

"Beautiful in Ugliness"

On the other hand, Mary McGavran of the Ohio State Journal said:

"Beautiful in its very ugliness, it is possessed of an emotional sweep and an exhilarating liveness which stems from the clever craftsmanship and poetic appeal that are O'Neill's."

"'A Moon for the Misgotten' contains some of the best and most touching writing by the greatest American playwright," said William F. McDermott of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, who added, however, that it was too long and rough in spots.

"It is a harsh, powerful play that shows his ability to create characters who are distinctly individualistic and make others like paper dolls," commented E. B. Radcliffe of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Samuel T. Wilson of the Columbus Dispatch found it full of "Tenderness of sentiment, music and meaning, warmth of human observation, and comment, and vast sorrowfulness" and called it "the playwright's present towering achievement as a dramatic craftsman and above all as a poet." He too suggested that it would be a much better play after it had run long enough for the cast to get the full rhythm.

The play goes to Cleveland next week, and to Pittsburgh March 3. No date has been set for a New York opening.

LA RUE METHODISTS PLAN NEW CHURCH BUILDING

Architect's Plans Presented: To Plant Crops For Funds.

Special to The Star

LARUE—W. E. Selanders was speaker of the LaRue Methodist Men's Brotherhood when the group met at his home Monday evening for the two hundredth meeting of the organization. His topic was "A Trip Through the Islands of Lake Erie."

Devotions included scripture by Frederic Adams and prayer by Herbert Moore. Group singing was led by Mr. Selanders. It was voted that men of the church plant crops for the benefit of the church building fund.

Howard Bailey, chairman of the building committee, presented the drawings and plans of proposed improvements and addition to the church building as recently drawn by Boyd Martin, Columbus architect. The plans, it was announced, will be presented to the church members for their approval at a special meeting following the morning worship service Sunday.

Refreshments were in charge of Miss Margaret Selanders, assisted by Mrs. Albert Amstutz. W. O. Oberdier will be host to the group at the March meeting.

Magician To Speak At Masonic Meeting

Jack Courtney, the magician of Columbus, will be the main attraction at the annual Father and Son banquet of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M., which will be held at the Masonic Temple tonight.

Mr. Courtney is a professional magician and has played in theaters all over the country. This is the twelfth father and son banquet Marion Lodge has sponsored and due to the heavy reservation which numbers almost 700 it will be necessary to have two complete settings of the dining room this year, the committee announces.

In addition to Mr. Courtney, there will be special music and moving pictures. The meeting will be in charge of Edwin P. King, worshipful master of Marion lodge.

BOXCAR SHORTAGE CONFERENCE SET

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — Industry executives and government officials will meet next Wednesday in the senate office building to attempt to work out plans for obtaining 10,000 new boxcars monthly to relieve the critical shortage.

The situation is so acute, government spokesmen noted today, that even President Truman referred to the administration's attempts to remedy it during yesterday's news conference.

Chairman Reed (R-Kan.) of a senate commerce subcommittee, and Senators Myers (D-Pa.) and Capeheart (R-Ind.) visited the President and later reported him in sympathy with the senators' move.

Representatives of railroads and steel companies, railway car builders and government agencies will attend next week's discussions for obtaining more steel for cars.

Present allocations provide for only 84,000 box cars annually, Reed told newsmen, while 85,000 are being retired for obsolescence.

Capeheart reported the shortage was hampering shipments of Canadian newsprint to American newspapers, while Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers association, asserted at New York that newspapers soon may have to curtail their size.

At Warren, O., a spokesman for the Mullins Manufacturing Corp., said the shortage threatened to shut down both its Warren and Salem, O., plants. Such a shutdown would affect 1,500 Warren workers and 1,800 at Salem.

Ayrshire Herd Near Kenton High in Nation

Special to The Star

KENTON, Feb. 21—The nine-cow herd of Ayrshires owned by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Cook of near Alger in Hardin county ranked among the 10 top Ayrshire herds in the nation in January based on herd tests, according to C. T. Conklin, secretary of the National Ayrshire Breeders' association in Brandon, Vt.

RESERVATIONS LAG FOR BOOSTER EVENT

Harding Backers Urged To Attend Meeting.

Only 25 reservations have been made for the organization dinner meeting of the Harding Booster's club which will be held at the Y. M. C. A. at 6 p. m. Monday, Y officials announced this morning.

As at least three times this number are expected to attend the meeting. Dr. Richard L. Morgan, who with John Pickerel, has been instrumental in planning the meeting, expressed disappointment at the small number of reservations made since the announcement the meeting would be held.

The meeting is to start the ball rolling toward a large booster's group. Reservations should be in by noon Saturday. They can be made by dialing 3127 or by applaying at the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Morgan stressed that a person does not have to be a member of the club to attend this meeting.

A temporary slate of officials will be appointed at the meeting.

STUDY NEW TRAFFIC CODE FOR BUCYRUS

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Feb. 21—Preparing to place Bucyrus on a level with larger cities in the state in traffic regulations, city council Tuesday night gave further consideration to a new city traffic code and took under consideration the purchase of new equipment to support new traffic regulations estimated to cost $3,783.

The proposed code, patterned after the state code, was turned over to the ordinance and resolutions committee for additional study.

Council took no official action no recommendations for new equipment to support the code but heard a report from Service Director W. F. Pfleiderer of the estimated cost of new stop signs and other types of signs necesary for enforcing traffic regulations. Pfleiderer reported sign companies asked 60 days time for delivery after receiving the order for the signs.

Also placed before council for study this week was a request by Safety Director John Carroll for new equipment at City hospital estimated to cost $4,101. The proposed new equipment would include a mobile X-ray unit, three fracture beds, laboratory equipment and various pieces of replacement equipment. Carroll suggested that bonds be issued to pay for the equipment.

Auditor E. C. Oppenlander reported the hospital is now about $1,500 "in the red," recent hospital rate increases having been absorbed by increased salaries.

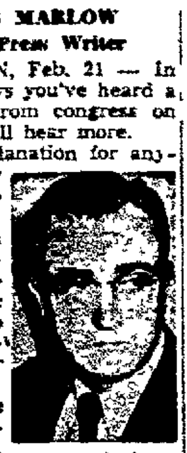
Facts Behind Oratorical Blast On Truman's Budget Explained

By JAMES MARLOW
ssociated Press Writer



James Marlow

INGTON, Feb. 21 — In ew days you've heard a tory from congress on et You'll hear more.

an explanation for any- fused by been hap- month Tru- ec con- o vote ,000,000 to govern- another ais the year start- July 1 ding June 8 So congress has until 30 to finish voting the s budget message Mr. n explained in great detail h money was needed for partment of government uch for the army, the e agriculture and com- departments, international and so on year congress reorganized In doing so, it decided this the President sent his in January, congress look at it.

To Make Quick Decision

it would try to decide very quickly whether it thought the estimate was all right or should be cut.

For the past week the house has been arguing about this and yesterday decided it could be cut $6,000,000,000—from $37,500,000,000 to $31,500,000,000

The senate, still arguing, will vote pretty soon on how much it thinks the cut should be It may decide on a cut of $4,500,000,000.

Then house and senate will get together, through a committee, and try to agree on a cut of—say —$5,000,000,000

Will that be law then? No Won't that be the actual cut in the budget? No. That's just an estimated cut.

Neither house nor senate yet has investigated to see how much it can cut each department. House and senate are just guessing now.

Mostly Oratorical Fireworks

Is this just oratory now? Pretty much. Except for this: By voting on an estimated cut now congress is setting up a target to shoot at

And for this reason

House and senate committees as they've always done in the past, will go on and hold long hearings

They'll call a parade of government officials and department heads to explain why their department's need as much money as the President's budget said they do

Through these hearings, or investigations, the committees will decide how much it's safe to cut each department.

Then the committees will recommend to the full house and senate how much it thinks each department really needs.

The full congress will then vote, one by one, on money for each department.

It won't know, until it's voted the last bit of money, maybe sometime next June, how much money it's voted altogether to run the government.

Isn't it possible then that congress will wind up finding it has not cut government expenses very much below Mr Truman's estimate?

Possible, but not likely. This is why

By agreeing at this time on an estimate of how much they think the cut should be, the full house and senate are putting an obligation on all the committees to trim government expenses severely.

That's the target the full congress is setting up for itself by voting on an estimate now, long before the committees finish their work

Congress is taking a chance of putting itself on the spot by all this

If it agrees now on a huge cut but, in the end, winds up cutting only a little, the voters may feel congress talked one thing but did another.

So, as some congressmen explain it, the estimated cuts agreed upon now are putting a moral obligation on congress to make those estimates real

Marion Co. Native Backs Plan To Restore Agosta

A news account telling of the plans now afoot to restore the village of New Bloomington to its former name, Agosta, brought a letter of approval to Mayor J. L. Mereaith and the New Bloomington village council from a former Marion countian now living in Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Orus Blue, (Eva Prettyman) a onetime resident of LaRue.

Addressing her letter to the mayor and council Mrs. Blue writes that she says "Amen" to the changing the name to the one by which it has been known for many years

"I visited Ohio last summer," she wrote, "also your village, and was surprised to find you had changed to New Bloomington. I think when one is living far from home we like to find our old home towns as they were named, when we return on a visit. Have been away twenty-seven years but still love Ohio. Best wishes to your plan."

Proceedings were started early this year by more than 50 residents of the village in which the village council was asked to take action changing the name back to that of Agosta The name was changed to New Bloomington about two years ago.

—DAILY LENTEN MEDITATIONS—

IN THE CHRIST OF THE CROSS WE GLORY

Today's Text: "If it were not so, I would have told you."—John 14.2.

JESUS has been called the great Son of fact." His thought was as clear as the sunlight. His approach to life as straight and true as plumb line. When He spoke, it was with the authority of truth and reality. All that He said and did was based upon things as they really are.

Sometimes, indeed, He was quite chary of speech. There were important occasions when He might have spoken to His own advantage. He did not do so because of the atmosphere of insincerity in which He found Himself. More than once He was silent and answered nothing before men who were so clearly false that it did not seem worth while to express Himself

There was nothing that Jesus hated so much as a lie, whether it was a living or spoken lie It seemed to Him that a lie was a fundamental sin because it undermined the structure of confidence and mutual understanding upon which life rests.

Just as a false signal sent out by a dispatcher is likely to destroy faith in all signals, so a false word or deed has a tendency to destroy confidence in the value of all life.

Pastor, Methodist Church, Prospect.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Ear Infection

Otitis media, or infection of the middle ear, is often dangerous not only because it may damage hearing, but because of three serious hazards it may offer to life itself

In the first place, infection in the middle ear may quickly spread to the brain, causing a dangerous infection of its lining membrane, called meningitis, or it may extend to the brain itself causing a brain abscess In other cases it may bring about the formation of a clot in one of the large veins within the skull

Otitis media may develop as the result of a cold The middle part of the ear is connected with the throat by a passageway known as the eustachian tube and germs can be forced through this tube by violent sneezing or by forceful flowing of the nose

Then, too, middle-ear infection may develop during measles, influenza, or scarlet fever In fact, during some epidemics of scarlet fever, it occurred in one of every five cases.

Fortunately, the wonder drug, penicillin, has robbed his disorder of much of its power for harm. According to Dr Leighton F. Johnson of Boston, penicillin is by far the most effective treatment for otitis media, because it cures the infection rapidly before it has time to invade the brain or other important tissues

The treatment suggested by Dr. Johnson is as follows: If, on examination, it is found that the eardrum is bulging, it is cut open at once A culture is then made from the discharge from the ear to determine the type of germs present, and penicillin is administered by injection into a muscle. The injections of penicillin are then repeated every three hours, day and night. The amount depends upon the age of the patient and the severity of the condition. The discharge from the ear will then clear up in about three days

The penicillin injections should be continued for three to five days after the ear stops draining and the condition is apparently cured. If the treatment is not continued in this way, in many instances the infection seems to recur.

Penicillin may be given by mouth, but larger dosage is required when it is administered in this way. Injection of penicillin in oil may also be employed, and when this is done, only one or two injections a day are needed

According to Dr. Johnson, the use of this type of treatment for otitis media has prevented the development of mastoid infection in all cases which he has treated.

Prop Busters Club Plans Open Contest

At a meeting of the Marion Prop Busters club Tuesday night at the home of William Tsumpes on Franklin street, plans were made for an open contest to be held in April The events will be divided among the different classes of rubber, gas and glider model planes Further information will be announced at the next meeting, March 4, at the same place

Membership in the club is open to anyone interested in building and flying model aircraft, married or single, and from the age of 12 on up Plans are being discussed for the summer activities and it is hoped that the club will progress and make a good showing at contests to be held in other cities Further information concerning membership in the club can be obtained by contacting Robert Blank of the Burks road, William Tsumpes or Fred Schatzinger of 483 Olney avenue

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

SOME SUGGESTIONS

Editor of The Star To Messrs Smith McGregor, Taft, Bricker and others, I wish to make the following suggestions

That the Presidential Succession law of 1886 be repealed, that the president of the senate and the speaker of the house be designated first and second vice president respectively; that they be elected at the same time and in the same way as the president, and that the electoral college be done away with in due time

If the electoral college continues, the electors should be chosen for a period of four years and given the power to fill presidential vacancies not otherwise provided for

To the Admiral of the South Pole, I suggest that one of our biggest atom bombs be dropped into one of those green lakes near the south pole A man-made super-geyser might release enough steam and hot water to melt the polar ice cap, change the continental contour, make habitation and mining operations possible, etc.

Boyle, 36 Today, Pauses for Backward Glance

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21—Today I am thirty-six years old, the first milestone past the half-way mark.

On birthdays I have the habit of tallying up what's gone before and estimating the prospects ahead. This gives a man the same kind of morbid pleasure a kid gets out of seeing how far he can stick a pin into his skin before it hurts.

Hal Boyle

This year I was going to foreswear both the backward look and the forward glance, figuring that when you enter into the last half of your life expectancy about the best thing you can do is keep your head and your insurance paid.

Then I bumped into Dick Rundell, who carried a rifle for Uncle Sammy in Germany.

Dick served 21 months in the army and saw five foreign countries, but when somebody yells "Boy!" now, he has to come running—a little self-consciously.

Copy Boy at Night

He is a copy boy on the Miami Herald at night. During the day he is an overgrown freshman at the University of Miami.

Dick is tall and twenty. He has no doubts about what he wants.

"I'm going to be a reporter," he told me and grinned,"—wherever it will lead me."

Wherever it will lead him! I down and your insurance paid. it will lead him, and what memories he will collect along the way.

I saw three men executed by hanging when I was a 19-year-old copy boy—an age when Dick was already an infantrymen overseas.

The three men had shot to death a Kansas City patrolman. I remember how when their turn finally came the drop killed two at once and the third died slowly at the end of the bright new rope as little tremors ran up and down his body like a pianist practising his scales. And overhead pigeons whirred in the old courthouse grating. Whenever I see pigeons now I wonder if that dying man could hear their wing beats.

First Experience with Fear

A reporter always remembers his first experience with fear. Thus I will never forget the unutterable panic that shone in an elderly woman's eyes when, during a routine obituary check, I asked what caused the death of her brother, a minor county official. Her lips framed "cancer," but her terrified eyes asked did I think maybe sometime death would take her that way too.

At 25 I came across in St. Louis the purest act of love I ever knew. A middle-aged man walking to work along some railroad ties was struck by a train and decapitated. His wife happened by shortly afterward and found him. When police reached the scene the dead man's head was missing. They wonder if he has any idea where ble home, where his wife had carried it in her unreasoning grief.

I know this sounds horrible. But I have seen many crocodile tears shed at funerals where no real love was felt for the corpse—even by himself. That bewildered wife, however, trying blindly to bring her husband back to the vanished security of home, was one truly bereaved and stirred beyond the portals of sense. Mad and magnificent as a Shakespearean queen!

O "wherever it will lead me."

Can Lead To Strange Lands

A reporter's life may lead him to strange lands. It is sure—if he is any kind of a reporter—to lead him into many strange corners of the human spirit. That, I submit, is much more worthwhile traveling than mere visual journeys from palm to pine.

To see scrub ladies with their chins up and diplomats with their guards down, kings acting like common people behaving usually like common people and sometimes better than any king, is the peculiar privilege of the newspaperman.

To record the raw and silken interplay of forces in human society makes synics of many reporters, drunkards of some, great literary figures of others—such as Charles Dickens or Ernest Hemingway. Most just keep on being reporters, until time frays them out. I try hard to think of a better life, and can't.

If this sounds like a lot of nonsense for a man to write on his 30th birthday, blame it on Dick. I wonder wherever it will lead him. There may not be much waiting at the end, but the same thing is true of a trip on a roller coaster. You go along for the ride.

RUBBER SHOWDOWN EXPECTED FEB. 28

AKRON, O., Feb. 21—The final showdown on the wage question involving the CIO-United Rubber Workers and the "Big Four" companies of the industry may come Feb. 28 when members of the union's general board and representatives of the international's policy committee gather in Cleveland.

Results of strike votes by local unions in Big Four plants over the county will be canvassed at that time.

The international executive board will meet in Cleveland two days earlier and it is expected the board will ask the Big Four to meet once again to go into the wage issue.

Negotiations between the union and the Big Four companies on demands for a 26 cents hourly wage increase collapsed at Cincinnati two weeks ago when the companies asked for a 90-day recess.

Meanwhile, two big Akron locals have authorized a strike, if necessary, to back up demands for the wage increase. Workers at B. F. Goodrich Co. and Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. have voted overwhelmingly for strike action. Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. employes vote here today, while workers in the United States Rubber Co.'s largest local, in Detroit, voted yesterday and today.

The rubber workers' union obtained an 18½ cents hourly wage boost last March. Union spokesmen maintain a 26 cents hourly increase is necessary to make up for increases in the cost of living since that time.

Present average hourly rates of rubber workers in the Akron area is $1.34.

LaRue Church Groups In Social Gatherings

Special to The Star

LARUE—Members of the Christ Helpers class of the LaRue Baptist church were guests of the Methodist Friendship class at a class party and potluck supper Tuesday evening in the recreation hall.

Scripture by Miss Mae Keeler was followed with prayer by Mrs. Donald Virden. Miss Lena Dale Mulvaine was pianist for group singing. Mr. and Mrs. Gene Dunkin led in games and contests.

Drawings and plans of the proposed church building program were presented and explained by Howard Bailey, chairman of the building committee. The meeting closed with the friendship circle and prayer by Rev. C. A. Hutchison.

Mrs. Mary Weist was hostess last week to the LaRue Methodist Earnest Workers Circle. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. J. W. Horne. The program topic was presented by Mrs. Susie Weist, Mrs. Flora Sager, Mrs. John Dickason, Mrs. Alice Whitman, Mrs. Katherine Miller and Mrs. C. A. Hutchison who was a guest. The hostess was assisted by Miss Laverne Weist and Miss Ruth Dickason.

Mrs. Flora Alt was hostess last week to the LaRue Embroidery club with Mrs. D. D. Clifton as co-hostess. Twenty members were present. Mrs. N. A. Cook and Mrs. J. W. Hoagland were winners of contest prizes. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Eugene English. The next meeting will be with Mrs. John R. Jones.

Upper Rites Set For Mrs. Mary Matthews

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Feb. 21—Word was received here of the death of Mrs. Mary Matthews, formerly of this community, who died at her home in Warren, O., Wednesday.

Surviving is one brother, Marion, of south of Harpster.

The funeral services will be conducted Saturday from the Bringman and Co. funeral home here. The services at the home will be at 2 p. m. Burial will be made in Oak Hill cemetery near here.

FACES LIFE. Testifying she didn't intend to rob the Des Moines Bank and Trust Co. when she entered the building, but that "something just came over me," Mrs. Opal Dixon, 35, (above), described for a Des Moines all-woman jury her life with five husbands. Mrs. Dixon told of her present husband's threat to kill her and her two teen-age daughters and "I knew I had to do something big enough to get to the FBI, so they could help me." Conviction on the robbery charge carries life term.

Liquor Store Manager Named at Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Feb. 21—Appointment of Frank Kimmel, of New Washington, as manager of the Bucyrus state liquor store was announced today by the state liquor department.

Kimmel's appointment, okayed by the Republican executive committee, is effective at once.

Kimmel replaces Lawrence Foulke who resigned Jan. 23. Another resignation was received today from Richard Muhr, who has been serving as clerk of the store. No replacement has been made.

Salary of New Ohio Farm Chief Withheld

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today refused to issue a payroll check for $366.66 to Edwin J. Bath, recently appointed special assistant to director of agriculture Frank N. Farnsworth for the one-half month ended Feb. 14.

Ferguson said he did not have all the details in connection with Bath's appointment at the $8,800 a year salary whether there had been a consolidation of offices and assignment of new duties under legal provisions.

"So far as I can ascertain," he said, "there is no section of the law that allows the director of agriculture to appoint a special assistant at huge salaries, and until such a time as I am sure Mr. Bath's appointment conforms with the law it will be necessary to withhold payment of his salary."

CONGRESSMEN SEEK OHIO FREIGHT AID

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Ohio congressmen yesterday renewed their demands for more freight cars in Ohio.

Rep. Harry J. McGregor, who called the situation to the attention of the house in a speech a week ago, told a reporter there is a good chance that a directive sending empty cars through Ohio to Chicago will be modified.

"It is ridiculous," McGregor said, "to assure Chicago 1,500 to 1,600 empty cars every 24 hours when these cars must pass industrial plants closed for a lack of transportation."

McGregor and Reps. Vorys, Carson and Ramey, all Republicans, suggested to the office of defense transportation that the directive be modified to delete the word "empty" in connection with Chicago cars.

"There's a good chance that this will be done," McGregor said. "Ohio isn't asking for too much but only for its proportionate share of available cars."

The purpose of the ODT directive as evplained by federal officials, McGregor said, was to provide 60 to 65 per cent of freight car requirements in various areas.

"But," he added. "investigation indicates that loadings in Ohio amount to only 30 to 35 per cent of our needs. The state is harder hit than any other section by the present acute shortage of cars."

McGregor said he appealed directly to the ODT after Ohioans had appeared before the senate interstate committee which is investigating the problem.

He estimated there are 25,000 fewer cars available now than during the war and that at least 25,000 more cars are needed to overcome the shortage.

Newark and Zanesville Men Killed in Accident

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., Feb. 21—A Newark business man and a Zanesville war veteran were killed yesterday in an automobile-truck collision on U. S. route 40 west of Zanesville. Two other men were injured.

The dead were Allen B. Sarber of Newark, part owner of a weather stripping and insulating business, and Paul Dingey, 21, Zanesville.

The two men were in an automobile which collided with a truck operated by Roy Turk of Newark, said state highway partolmen.

Department Asks Bids On Highway Projects

Bids on the painting and cleaning of bridges and road improvements in Wyandot, Crawford, Richland and Union counties will be received by the state highway department until 10 a. m. March 11, Highway Director Murray D. Shaffer announced today. Similar projects are also planned for 43 other counties.

In Wyandot county .71 mile of road will be improved in Antrim township at an estimated cost of $1,006.50. The overall cost of the state program is expected to exceed $245,000.

PLEA FOR OHIO ECONOMY MADE

Legislators Get Recommendations from 45 Organizations To Keep Solvent.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21—Ohio legislatures took home with them today a plea from 45 business organizations that the state live strictly within its income for the next two years.

The request came from the inter-organizations conference composed of such groups as Chambers of Commerce, retail merchants, restaurants, banks, bakers, insurance, manufacturers, petroleum firms and the like

The conference said a study convinced members that "if the state were to attempt to provide funds for all the requests for new spending, in addition to the state's present operating budget Ohio would be confronted with the necessity of levying new or increased taxes"

"To this we are unalterable opposed" said a conference statement issued as the legislature adjourned until next Monday

"Wholehearted support" was pledged by the conference to a state fiscal policy which would limit the cost of government to current revenue during the present biennium, and not permit any part of the present state surplus to be used for the financing of current operating needs"

The report said that the present high level of state revenue would not continue indefinitely and that large expenditures now would open the door to deficit spending and increased taxes later

Republicans in the Ohio house have agreed in caucus to save the state's $161 000,000 surplus for capital improvements and to limit appropriations to an anticipated biennial income of $442 000 000

A special house committee headed by Rep Paul H Ballard, finance committee chairman estimated the income and said that only between $42 000,000 and $53,000,000 would be available for "extra" appropriations above operating expenses

Sen Albert L Daniels (R-Highland), senate finance committee head, has estimated state income at $488,000 000 in 1947-8 He said between $80 000,000 and $100-000 000 would be available for "extras" but conceded that demands far exceeded his estimates of available funds

Both committee chairmen maintained they were for a pay-as-you-go state fiscal policy and steps have been taken to reconcile differences in their figures

Representation of Gov Thomas J Herbert's biennial budget early next month was expected to bring the matter to a head in the legislature

OHIO NON-FARMING EMPLOYMENT DROPS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND Feb 21 -- Non-agricultural employment in Ohio during January declined one per cent from the previous month, but was 11 per cent above January, 1946, the bureau of labor statistics reported today.

The bureau's regional office estimated January employment at 2,198 500 For non-agricultural industries, the bureau's figures include all types except construction and government.

Manufacturing employment in January rose to 1,304,100 compared with 1,200,900 the previous month and 1,071,600 a year earlier.

In non-manufacturing lines a two per cent decrease during the month was described as seasonal The January estimate of 902,400 workers showed a 10 per cent increase over the same month of 1946.

Employment in retail general merchandise, at 78,400, showed a seasonal drop of 18 per cent from December to January, but compared with 66,400 a year ago.

The U. S Veterans' Administration estimates it will have 150,000 medical cases to care for in 1950.

Better Than Nothing

REPUBLICAN division over the saving to be made in President Truman's padded budget has hidden the fact that congressional Democrats are in favor of saving nothing at all. Democrats assume that the presidential budget is sacrosanct, that it must not be touched, and that taxpayers aren't interested in the possibility of a reduction. In fact, Democrats go even further and are leading a chorus of catcalls and horse-laughs against Republicans for daring to mention so unusual a thing as giving taxpayers a break. Surely, this must be the strangest of all consequences of party responsibility for a chief executive—that party members should be obliged to fight for overdue return to a peacetime spending level.

Mr. Truman's 37½-billion-dollar budget is three and a half times as large as the highest prewar total of appropriations. If it had been set at 40 billion, instead, Democrats would be defending that sum as a party obligation. Whether it is unpadded by six billion, half that much or by as little as six cents, all the credit must go to the Republicans who did the unpadding. Whatever they manage to save will be better than nothing, which is what Mr. Truman's party stalwarts had in mind.

Keep This Straight

NO IMAGINATION is required to see that there's more concerned in the fight against David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the atomic energy commission than the narrow prejudices of Senator McKellar of Tennessee. The fight involves conflicting points of view on ownership and operation of power resources, the greatest of which is atomic energy.

But the fact remains that Senator McKellar is attacking Lilienthal on the basis of narrow prejudice, including his own political peevishness because the former head of TVA refused to appoint some of the senator's henchmen to jobs in that agency. What the public would like to hear sometime in the discussion of Lilienthal's fitness to be chairman of the atomic energy commission is something about the fitness of McKellar to discuss Lilienthal's fitness.

If nothing is done to change the impression, the public may be misled into thinking an able public administrator was sacrificed to the vengeance of a politician angered because he couldn't inflict the spoils system on TVA. That could do more damage to the government than the loss of one of the few men who has shown aptitude for public service.

McKellar's opposition is a credit to David E. Lilienthal.

Mutual Frankness

THE STALIN regime in the Kremlin has done everything in its power, short of war, to demonstrate its contempt for the government of the United States. The diplomatic protest over testimony by Dean Acheson, the undersecretary of state, before a senate committee is the latest in a series of offensive gestures.

Secretary of State Marshall's firm reply to the protest, telling the Kremlin in effect that the United States is no longer impressed by such gestures, squares with popular feeling. No special poll is required to ascertain that the American people have turned against appeasement as a proper diplomatic policy toward the Soviet Union.

They would prefer a policy of mutual frankness. They like Gen. Marshall's explanation, that Mr. Acheson merely said what is well known about Russian foreign policy and was doing his duty by telling the senate committee his opinion.

The United States has no quarrel with the Russians. It has no quarrel with the Russian government. If the Stalin regime chooses to be difficult to get along with, that is its business. But the American people have had a quarrel with their government for seeming not to notice Russian rudeness. It is noticed. It is resented. It will not be reciprocated, but under Gen. Marshall it apparently is not going to be condoned.

Vacation Notes

AMID reports of hunger and instability in Europe, it is reassuring to note that the exiled royal personages of that unhappy continent seem to be doing very well by themselves.

Carol of Romania has become a fixture in the plush cafes and hotels of Mexico. Marie-Jose, wife of Umberto of Italy, has purchased—for $600,000—an estate on Lake Leman in Switzerland. On the opposite shore, the former Italian queen's brother, Leopold III of Belgium, maintains a handsome villa while he waits for his subjects to decide whether he will be permitted to return.

There is no system of social security for royal exiles, but it's a dim-witted princeling indeed who lacks foresight enough to line up a soft spot on which to fall.

A GENTLE THOUGHT.

The axe fiend, as he made a pass at his son, was heard to remark: "I've decided to part my heir in the middle."—Gould Battery News.

News Behind the News

Russians Roll Out Strange Welcome Mat.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — The Russians are rolling out, for the March Moscow conference on the German peace treaty, a welcome doormat which is about one inch wide and studded with thistles. What they are up to, no one around the state department appears to know for sure. Yet certainly Stalin's advance propaganda is designed to make all walk a straight and narrow path as Russia directs, and to soften our officials into a frightened tenderness.

Having attacked the American religious and peace minded delegate, George Foster Dulles, as a war monger, the Russian government officially sent a note declaring the State Undersecretary Acheson to be "rudely slanderous" and "hostile toward the Soviet Union" for having said simply this: "Russian's foreign policy is an aggresive and expanding one."

Talking on Request

Acheson did not volunteer this comment. He offered what the Soviets call "inadmissable behavior" under questioning by a congressional committee on the doubtful Lilienthal appointment. It may be inadmissable for anyone to speak out in Russia, but in a democracy it is paramountly necessary for a government official to answer frankly the questions of congress. Further, what Acheson said would not be inadmissable at a diplomatic pink tea.

The word aggressive means "disposed to vigorous outgoing activity in behalf of an object." Any undeluded person in the realm of reason must consider the term "aggressive" as applied to Soviet diplomacy to be accurately and mildly descriptive. The Soviets have certainly been belligerently aggresive in Iran, have swallowed up Latvia, Esthonia and Lithuania, and their Communists pride themselves on being politically aggressive throughout Europe and Asia, as do their delegates in UN.

Acheson also said Soviet policy was "expanding," which means "enlarging, swelling, spreading out." Anyone who claims it is not would do violence to the plain facts which are no secret to any adult American. Russian foreign policy is thoroughly in accord with world Communism, which is bent on world conquest.

Off the record around here, some officials used to say when they saw the Soviets doing violence to language and reason: "The Russians are crazy, but not that crazy." Now these same men say they are not so sure. The behavior of Russia diplomatically of late has been inimical to the simplest of common sense. It is becoming inadmissable to reason.

Diplomats feel they run a danger of Moscow attack if they simply say today: "Russia is Russia," or "today is a fine day." Indeed some wish to send Russia's world activities to a psychiatrist for the answer.

Reason Unimportant

However, this is not the general studied viewpoint of the close followers of Soviet technique. Russia does not bother much about reason, only about reasons. Her motives are less a mystery to the new military regime than to the old Byrnes political crowd which ran the state department for so long. I think the average impression here is that Stalin (through Molotov) has really outdone himself this time in stretching his professed willingness to be offended at the slightest murmur. He has reduced his pressures to absurdity. The old Roosevelt crowd used to consider Stalin's sensitivity as an inferiority complex. This theory held some weight until evidences of the Russian superiority complex accumulated in denial of it after the war. Personally I think Stalin learned diplomacy from Hitler. You will recall Hitler was alternately frightening the world and being offended by it, and his technique brought him many things he wanted.

That game somehow has worn out. People are familiar with it, particularly military people. They are less inclined to fall into whatever pattern of action the dictators try to chase them. Words and politics annoy them. They want to know the facts and they want to act on the facts. In view of this maintenance of realism, what the state department and General Marshall in his official note responding to the Russian protest have said publicly about the incident, is really only a part of what they actually think.

I wish someone would call me "aggressive" and "expanding" in my endeavors. I would consider it a high compliment.

If Only It Could Cook

A streamlined desk, just placed on the market, contains built-in telephone, distaphone, radio, bar, refrigerator, cigaret lighter and electric razor.

The deluxe model, one supposes, also boasts hot and cold running water.

In fact, with so many gadgets to ease office routine, the next obvious addition is a washing machine to take care of the dirty work.

Once manufacturers include a Murphy bed as optional equipment, it will enjoy a big sale in housing shortage areas.

With a front stoop and weathervane, this roll-top bungalow would be better built and every bit as big as some of the "veterans homes" for which patriotic contractors are asking twice as much.

It sells for $7,000, FOB, Chicago. But that's not so bad considering that everything about it is automatic except the monthly payments.

As a desk, however, it has its drawbacks: With so many things to divert a man, how could he ever get any work done?

Marriage - Saving Drive On

Agencies Work Overtime on Divorce Problem.

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK—Saving marriages is today the number one concern of home town social agencies which a few years back were battling poverty as the major community problem.

It's not that there are no more poor, but it is that America's rapidly spiraling divorce rate has reached proportions of a public problem. The rate was one divorce for every three marriages in 1945 and this year it is expected to hit two for every five.

Frank J. Hertel, general director of the Family Service Association of America, spearheads 234 coast-to-coast member agencies which are trying to do something constructive about America's troubled family life, mirrored in increased juvenile delinquency and in the day-to-day job efficiency of thousands of unhappy men and women.

"Preparation for a successful marriage starts with the mothers and fathers of every couple," Hertel said. "An agency really comes into the picture too late when it tries to do a repair job. Our aim of course is to patch up a marriage, but we also are trying to teach mothers and fathers to bring up their children so that ultimately they will have happy marriages."

Colleges Offer Training

Pre-marriage courses have been set up in many communities similar to one in progress for students at Pennsylvania State College. Miami, Fla., is a model where happy families work with social workers treating day-by-day problems of family living, and child care. New Orleans and other cities are holding a series of courses—institutes—on all phases of married life and care of children.

And throughout the country marriage counselors are working with individuals and groups, ironing out minor problems or adjusting major ones which can threaten the lives of two people bound, it appears, for worse instead of better. Hertel estimated these cases today constitute about 80 per cent of a family agency's work.

In New York, the Community Service Society, one of the member agencies of the F. S. A. is working with individuals — men and women who either appeal voluntarily for help or are sent by a friend, a doctor, a lawyer or (this is increasing) an employer.

One key to happy marriage is the quality of understanding what the concerned individual wants from it.

"And another, equally or more important," said a counselor, "is the realization that almost always both spouses are to blame for difficulties. Almost all the people who come to us try to blame all their trouble on their mate.

"It is trite but it is true that marriage is and must be a two-person relationship and there is rarely incompatibility on the part of one. Usually it is two people who lack understanding and have failed to adjust to each other."

Generally speaking, half a marriage repair job has been accomplished when people appeal for help, the marriage counselor said, for the mere fact of the appeal indicates their eagerness to make a go of it. The other important hurdles include the will to make necessary adjustments and adaptations.

"And it is true that a happy marriage can be made of temperamental opposites," she added, "because one individual should supplement the other, not tear each other down through misunderstanding."

War a Leading Factor

Hertel said that although a great percentage of current divorce was caused by a backlog which had been postponed because of the war, another important factor was the huge number of hasty wartime marriages, based on short acquaintance and the urgency of the times. Marriage counselors are trying to keep thousands of these off the shoals.

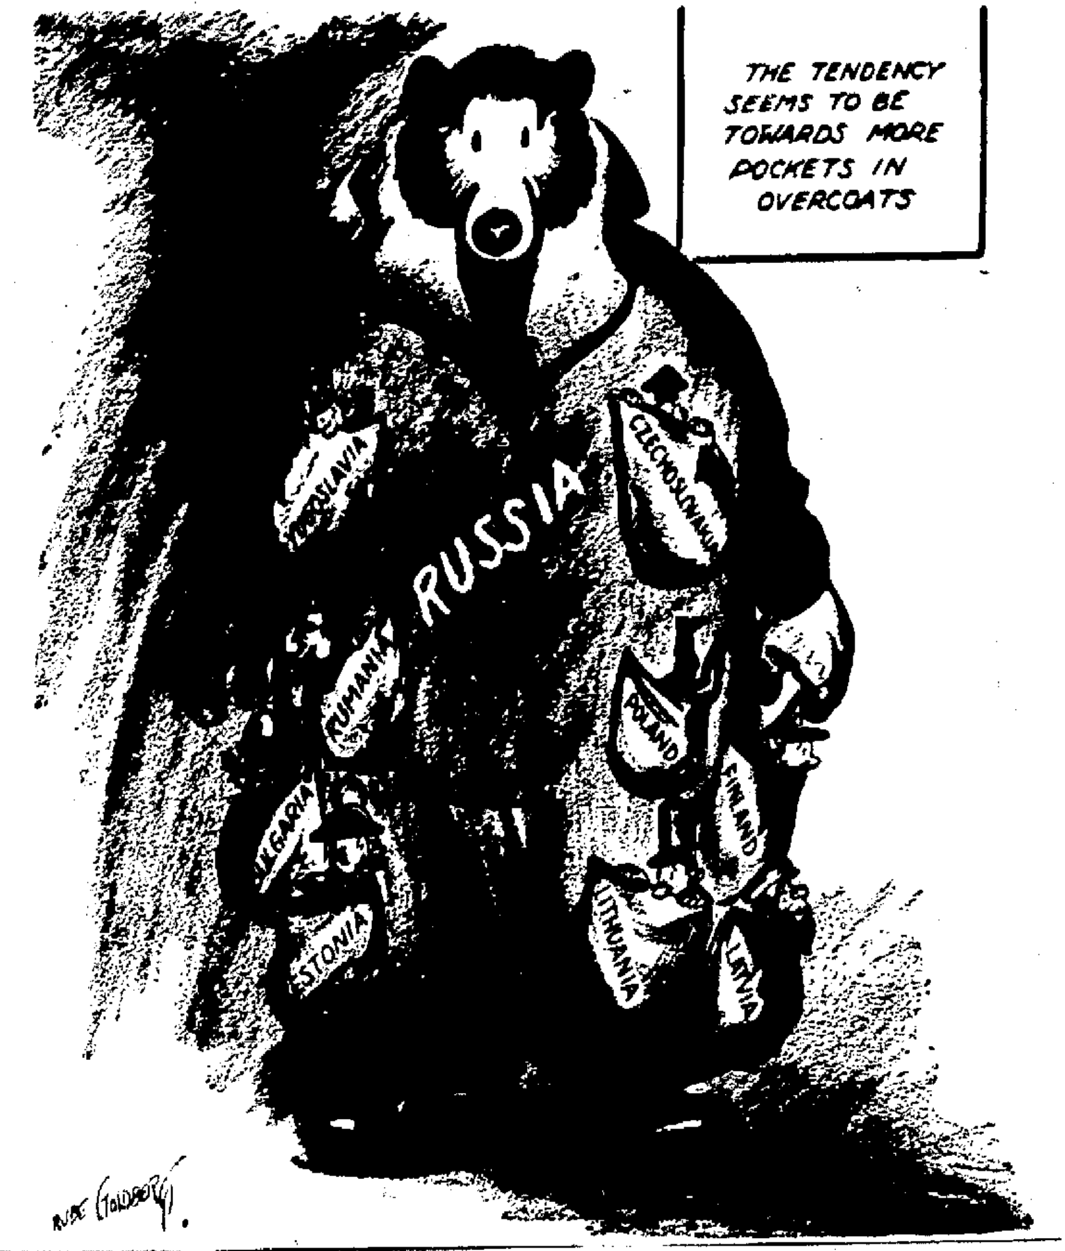
"We must take the long view and the short view of the situation," he said. "First, assist our families in making their adjustments. And second, reach their children through them, because today's children must be the happily married adults of tomorrow."

Daily Bible Thought

God paints the sky and the sea, morning and evening, with splendor and the land with embroidered loveliness. He loves us very much.—Psalm 19:1: "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament showeth his handiwork."

In 1866 there were 30 million U. S. acres planted to corn and the yield was 731 million bushels. In 1946 there were 95 million acres planted with a yield of 3,018,410,000 bushels.

STYLE NOTE FROM RUSSIA



The Turkish Dilemma

By STEWART ALSOP

Stewart Alsop is touring the Mediterranean area to write about turbulent conditions there. Joseph Alsop covers the nation from Washington.

ANKARA, Feb. 21—An interesting, unreported incident took place a few months ago on the disputed northern border between Turkey and the Soviet Union, in the area of Kars and Ardahan, to which the Soviet press has laid claim. A raiding party, 200 strong, of Soviet Armenians crossed the border and penetrated into Turkish territory.

It is difficult to believe that this raid was organized and dispatched without the consent of the Soviet authorities. One guess is that it was designed to test the reaction of the Turkish forces, perhaps with the hope, often present in the Russian mind, that the oppressed and exploited inhabitants would rise to welcome the invader.

Whatever the intention, the reaction of the Turkish forces was unequivocal. The raiding party was slaughtered almost to a man. An odd postscript to the incident was the request from the Soviet side of the border for the cigaret cases, knives and other personal effects of the dead, to give to the bereaved Soviet families as mementoes of their loss. The Turks obliged.

Nor was this, according to reliable information, an isolated episode. There have been a number of such probing pinpricks. Add to them the constant psychological pressure to which the Turks are subjected by fierce attacks on the Soviet radio and press; add the unofficial demands for two overlapping Turkish areas in the north, and the official demand for Russian bases on the Dardanelles; add the Turkish conviction that both the Syrian demand for Hatay, which they consider Russian inspired, and the importation of thousands of Armenians from the Middle East into the areas bordering on Turkey, as part of the technique of Russian pressure; add all this together and it is easy to understand why the Turks insist on maintaining an army of more than 600,000, several times the size which the resources or the population of this country would justify.

Turkey's Dilemma

Yet the maintenance of this army, huge in terms of the Turkish economy, has placed Turkey in a vicious dilemma. The quality of this dilemma can be summed up in three sentences. First, in case of Russian attack—the only possible reason for maintaining the army—organized Turkish resistance could not possibly last for more than a few weeks or months.

Second, the cost of maintaining the army, and the loss of desperately needed agricultural manpower, which it entails, is eating into the heart of the shaky Turkish economy. Third, the Turks are almost unanimously convinced that a widespread demobilization would seem a sign of weakness, not only to the Russians, but to the Turkish people themselves, and would seriously undermine Turkish morale.

In the face of Russian pressure, as to the first point, the most optimistic estimates of Turkish resistance, in case of a Russian attack is six months. Experts are more inclined to guess at between a month and six weeks. Yet the cost of maintaining this army of tough foot soldiers — the Turks have no modern weapons worthy of the name—is at the heart of Turkey's numerous economic troubles.

Fear Economic Crisis

It is bringing the specter of inflation and financial chaos constantly nearer. Here again there is no optimism among expert observers, but rather degrees of pessimism. There are those who foresee a serious economic crisis in a matter of months. Others believe that Turkey could continue to support its military burden for a number of years, as long as the world sellers market for Turkish agricultural products holds out.

But no one believes that the present situation—that of a poor country of less than 20,000,000 population carrying on its back an army of between 600,000 and 700,000—can continue indefinitely.

As one Turk put it, "If we don't demobilize, all the Russians will have to do is wait. And if we do demobilize, they won't even have to wait."

Among the Turks, there are those who argue that the facts should be faced that the army should be cut by more than half, and that the rest should concentrate on the art of guerrilla warfare. Turkey would then rely on the only real strength of her military and diplomatic position, the determination of the western powers to resist any infringement of Turkish sovereignty.

That is, of course, the heart of the whole matter. Napoleon, with his flare for dramatic over-simplification, once remarked that in Turkey you will find the keys to the world.

Eyed by Russia

Together with Iran and Greece, Turkey is at least one of the three keys to the whole Middle East. Russian ambitions in that vital area have been made clear enough for any sensible man to understand. The logic of events led the United States, while recognizing Russia's special position in regard to the Dardanelles, to oppose these ambitions, lest the whole world balance of power be overturned.

It is easier in Ankara than in the United States to realize how completely dead is the happy provincialism of America's past. This is brought powerfully home to the observer by the self-evident fact that it is meaningless to discuss the military potential or diplomatic intentions of the Americans. This is a fact of which most Turks are far more vividly conscious than most Americans.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Feb. 21, 1937.

Marion and surrounding counties were swept by a wind and hail storm which caused damage of an undetermined high figure, blowing down buildings, snapping off telephone poles and trees and disrupting utility service generally. At Delaware the storm dipped from a black sky and virtually demolished a half-mile-long strip. Despite the hail and wind it was the warmest Feb. 21 in 45 years here, Weatherman E. H. Raffensperger reporting a maximum temperature of 63 degrees.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Condon of Girard avenue.

Miss Donna Cook and Carl Miller were married in the First Church of the Brethren by Rev. S. L. Cover.

Funeral services were held at the Central Christian church for Mrs. Roy Dilsaver of Olney avenue, who died the preceding Thursday.

Four new members were inducted into Boy Scout Troop No. 18, in a ceremony held at Salem Evangelical church. Rev. H. C. Ahrens, pastor, conducted the service and Arthur S. Brooks, Scout executive, gave a talk on "Scouting and the Church." The new members, William Buettin, Frank Butterworth, Gerald Chappeli and Edgar Thorpe, were presented their Tenderfoot badges.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Feb. 21, 1927.

Secretary of State Kellogg issued a statement at Washington in which he said, the American government was "highly gratified" at Japan's favorable response to President Coolidge's disarmament proposal.

Sheriff James A. Deal announced the resignation of W. Dexter Hazen, chief deputy sheriff, who was entering government service in the department of W. H. Walker, federal administrator of prohibition and narcotic law enforcement in the Northern District of the United States, with headquarters in Columbus.

Attorney James H. Eymon addressed the Marion County Ministerial association in the library auditorium. His topic was "Humanity Against Crime."

Walter Weber, Jefferson street, and Darrell DeLong, Girard avenue, returned from Cleveland where they spent the week-end.

Mrs. Charles F. LaMarche and Mrs. M. Cleary entertained with a luncheon and bridge at Hotel Harding. Mrs. Marion Buzzell of Houlton, Me., who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Wilfred Schaffner, was an out-of-town guest.

Maple Syrup

By TRUMAN TWILL

Sap is running in the sugar bush. St swirls upward from the evaporators into cupola atop the sugar house and is whi away by the wind through the maples.

Maple men eye the sky and study the wea forecasts. If the buds hold back, there'll good run of sap. It might last more tha month, which would be big business for o ators with groves of 2,000 maple trees syrup rolling selling around $5 a gallon.

We are talking about the manufactur maple syrup, a subject on which it is our nual pleasure to reminisce, as though we'd up housekeeping in a sugar house and k all about it. Actually, all we know is what remember about visits to sugar houses y ago.

The sugar house is usually situated in approximate center of a group of maple t to be close to the source of the sap tha boiled down each February and March to m maple syrup. This syrup is one of the fi things produced by American enterprise, no be mentioned in the same breath with the plane and the A-bomb, which are relati unimportant.

The house is rectangular. Its equipmen a series of shallow pans divided into comp ments. These pans are kept hot over a that evaporates the water from the maple and leaves the residue, which is maple sy The unforgivable crime of the operation, or boiling-down, is to burn the syrup, whic drained off when it reaches the final comp ment.

The sap is collected from pails hung the maple trees, in a tank which is pulled a on a sled; perhaps it should be called a st boat. For the benefit of those who never this operation, the sap comes out of the m tree through a spile, which is a kind of s driven into the body of the tree. The tainer hangs on the end of the spile.

It takes a lot of wood to keep the evapora going. So a prominent part of every s camp is the woodpile. It takes a lot of gu tion, too, which possibly explains why su making is likely to be attended at its moments with high spirits and festivity. S darned fine people are involved in it, inclu some darned fine ones who still remember w pure maple syrup could be purchased at a p an ordinary consumer could afford.

Consumers used to splash the syrup pancakes and soak pieces of toast in it. W there was nothing else to do they'd coo until it crystallized into toothsome dollops maple candy. They spooned it over hot bis and when no one was looking they just spo it into the place appointed by nature for reception of ambrosia, American style.

Wonder how much it would cost to hi cab to go spend the rest of the day at a s camp?

DELAWARE CO. FARM HOME RAZED BY FIRE

Quick Action of Pupils Saves Much Furniture.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Feb. 21 — The farm home of Joseph A. Bauder on the Liberty road one-fourth mile north of Hyatts was destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon with an estimated loss of $7,000. The fire was believed to have started from a defective flue.

A more extensive loss was averted by the response of the Hyatts High school pupils to a call for assistance. The group removed the greater part of the furniture and household goods before the building collapsed. They were in class when the alarm was given and were accompanied to the scene by their instructor, Arlie Lydick, vocational agriculture teacher.

Furniture in one upstairs room where the flames had spread before the youths arrived was lost, and potatoes, fruit and other articles in the basement also were destroyed. An electric washing machine was carried from the basement by the group before heat from the flames stopped their activities.

The fire was discovered at 2 p. m. by Mrs. Bauder who was working at the rear of the building. The flames were then shooting up near the chimney and spreading rapidly over the wooden shingle roof. Neighbors arrived within a few minutes and attempted to battle the fire, and new firefighting equipment from the Girls' Industrial school was called.

The house, a seven room frame structure, had been improved after Bauder had purchased it three years ago. He is employed at the Jeffrey Mfg. Co. and was at the Columbus plant when the fire broke out. It had burned to the ground when he reached home about 4 p. m.

Weddings

In a double wedding ceremony read Friday, Feb. 14, in the Emanuel Lutheran church, Miss Rosemary Weirick became the bride of Paul Glenn Beringer, and Miss Marjorie Jean Beringer was united in marriage with James Henry Burgess. The custom of closed church was observed for the double ring ceremonies read at 7:30 o'clock in the evening by the pastor, Rev. M. E. Hollensen. Only the immediate families were present.

The altar was decorated with bouquets of pink and white carnations and lighted by candles in candelabra. A program of nuptial music was presented preceding and during the ceremony by Mrs. William Ackerman Jr., organist. Her selection included "Because," "I Love You Truly," "Always" and "Indian Love Call."

Miss Weirick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil E. Weirick of Martel, Mr. Burgess is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril D. Burgess of 178½ South Main street, and Mr. Beringer and Miss Beringer are children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Beringer of 190 Elm street.

For her wedding, Miss Weirick chose a white wine gabardine suit with which she combined brown accessories. Her corsage was of pink camellias. Miss Beringer was attired in a Grecian rose gabardine suit with brown accessories and a corsage of white camellias.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Beringer left on a wedding trip through northern Ohio and New York. Upon their return, they will reside at 564 Delaware avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Burgess will make their home at 178½ South Main street after a wedding trip through the southern states and Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Beringer was graduated from Martel High school in 1945 and is employed as an accountant at the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. Mr. Beringer, a graduate of Harding High school with the class of 1940, is employed with the Chivington Auto Sales Co.

A graduate of Harding High school in 1945, Mrs. Burgess is employed as a secretary at the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. Mr. Burgess was gradauted from Harding High school in 1945 and later attended Bowling Green State State university. He is now employed at the Universal Cooler.

For the ceremony Mrs. Endricks chose a powder blue dress with which she wore white accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Barnhard wore a gray suit with black accessories. Mrs. Wertz is employed by Universal Cooler and Mr. Wertz at the Pollak Steel Co. plant. The couple will make their home for the present at 351 Fahey street.

Temporary Vet Liquor Priorities Inaugurated

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21 — A temporary priority system to benefit war veterans seeking beer and wine permits was set up today by Stanley B. Cofall, state liquor director, who also disclosed he would try to unfreeze whisky and night club permits for them.

Cofall announced all veterans' applications for C-1, C-2, D-1, and D-2 licenses received before Feb. 20 would be put through the permit division mill first. Applications received after yesterday will be handled in order of receipt, he said.

More than 3,600 applications are on file, some of them months old, he said.

Crestline Clubs Cited For Liquor Violations

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 21—Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins today announced citations against 18 liquor permit holders in Akron and surrounding territory in his probe of permit operations in the last days of the Gov. Frank J. Lausche administration.

Hearings on the citations will be heard in the city council chambers of the Akron municipal building before the state board of liquor control beginning March 10.

Included in the permittees cited and the dates of the hearings are:

March 14—At 9:30 a. m., American Legion, McWhirter post, No. 488, Crestline, and Veterans of Foreign Wars post No. 2920, Crestline.

PREACHING MISSION WILL END TONIGHT

Rev. W. A. Vorhis Will Speak at Marion Church.

The Methodist church at Prospect was host last night for the Marion County Preaching mission sponsored by the Methodist Men's association of the county. About 200 persons were present to hear Rev. Wilbur A. Vorhis of Wapakoneta who spoke on "Nor Should I Aught Withhold." Final service of the preaching mission will be tonight at Wesley Methodist church, Marion, preceded by a rally for young people at 6:30. The service will be at 8.

Taking part in the service besides the host pastor, Rev. Ralph Knoop, who presided, were Lloyd Meredith who led singing, Rev. Henry Maag of Prospect Street church, Marion, Scripture; Rev. W. S. Dibert of New Bloomington, prayer; George Schertzer announcements; and Rev. A. O. Long, Baptist minister of Prospect, benediction.

Rev. Vorhis declared that men deal in a straightforward way in the business world, but seldom think that they are not "playing square with God," which he called a worse indictment than "holding out on man." Many ills of the world, including war, he said could be cured by greater support of God's kingdom, which would lead to development of a better spirit among nations.

The youth recreation period tonight will be led by Rev. Eldred Johnston, pastor of Central Christian church in Marion. Rev. Vorhis will preach on "A Steward Is Personally Adequate."

BRITAIN

government declared it would take nearly half a million men from the armed forces, bring in foreign workers, seek to attract housewives to the factories and hold veteran laborers in their jobs beyond normal retirement age.

"Unless we concentrate upon these really important things we may never restore the foundations of our national life," the white paper warned grimly.

The white paper opposed shorter working hours being sought by many labor unions, declaring "greater leisure is a very desirable thing but it is not at the moment a prime essential like imported food— it is not as important as coal or clothing or housing."

Warning that food rationing will continue for years unless exports are increased sharply, the white paper estimated that Britain will be forced to draw $1,400,000,000 from the American and Canadian credits this year to pay for imports.

Referring to its dollar position, the government said the American loan obligation requiring Britain to begin converting frozen sterling balances this year "might result in some loss of dollars," and a consequent increased drain on the United States and Canadian credits.

Payment of bonuses as an incentive to increase production was advocated by the report—a recommendation expected to draw opposition from some British labor unions traditionally opposed to "speedup" practices.

"There is now no place for industrial arrangements which restrict productions and traditions grow up as a means of protecting workers from shortage of work, but now there is no such shortage nor need there ever be under a policy of full employment."

CLUB AIDS RED CROSS

Mrs. Lloyd Moyer of Waldo was an associate hostess when the Arts and Crafts club of Waldo met Wednesday night with Mrs. Paul Moyer of the Prospect pike. Symphony Orchestra Concert Enjoyed by Capacity Audience

By ELAINE BALLINGER

[illegible] a unity that was both a triumph of the musicians' skill [illegible] and a tribute to the ability of the director, the Indianapolis [illegible] orchestra played to an appreciative audience that filled [illegible] Palace theater to capacity last night. Presentation of the con[illegible] the orchestra of 85 members, directed by Dr Fabien Sevitzky

[illegible] in the series arranged [illegible] Marion Community Con[illegible] association for the season.

[illegible] the string sections, through [illegible] winds, the reeds and the [illegible] to the percussion instru[illegible] all players seemed equally [illegible] to even the slightest di[illegible] movement of the con[illegible] the whole a demonstra[illegible] outstanding musicianship [illegible] with unbroken rhythm, [illegible] of the violinists seemed to [illegible] as one across the strings [illegible] violin and unity of the [illegible] instruments was as marked, [illegible] unaided by the visual ef[illegible] that the moving bows created

Varied Program

[illegible] variety of the program [illegible] pleasing, and interpretation [illegible] the various passages in the in[illegible] numbers was in keeping [illegible] the mood on the subject matter. Translation from delicate pianissimo passages through more robust pattern of melody was skillfully accomplished. This was particularly noticeable in rendition of the modern piece "Minstrel Show" by Morton Gould where, from the lively introduction the music passed to a nostalgic plantation reverie then back to a gay ending in which the rattle of dice effect was unmistakable.

Opening the program was a classic by Beethoven, Symphony No. 3 in E flat Opus 55 ("Eroica") inspired in the Napoleonic era and begun in 1803 by the composer to describe and depict the qualities of heroism. This was followed by the Prelude to "The Afternoon of a Faun," Debussy, a background for the dreams and desires of the mythological woods creature on a summer afternoon.

The contemporary "Minstrel Show," entirely different in subject and composition from the first two sections, added a variety that was well received by the audience. Final presentation was the well known Suite from the ballet, "The Nutcracker," by Tchaikovsky, particularly beloved by children because of its whimsical fairy tale nature. The parts of the Suite played were the Miniature Overture, March, Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy, Trepak (Russian dance), Arabian Dance, Chinese Dance, Dance of the Reed Pipes and Waltz of the Flowers. It was in the Sugar Plum Dance that the small organ-type of instrument, the celeste, with its unusual bell-like musical effect, made its appearance. Adding to the fairy-like grace of the suite were the delicate tones of the harp passages.

Two Encores Played

Insistant applause by the audience brought two encores "Hungarian Dance," Brahms, and a popular number. A personal touch was added as a finale to the performance when Dr Sevitzky greeted the audience and on the final encore number told his hearers that the orchestra would play "something I know you'll like. I'll not tell you the name. You can guess it." It was Cole Porter's "Night and Day."

Orchestra Leader On Tour of City

[illegible]en Sevitzky, director of the [illegible]napolis Symphony orchestra [illegible] in a concert here Thursday [illegible] remained in Marion until [illegible] today and was taken on a [illegible]-seeing tour of the city by [illegible]resentatives of the Marion C[illegible] Concert association under [illegible] auspices the orchestra [illegible] at the Palace theater.

The director, whose interests includes painting, was the [illegible] for a short time of Mr and [illegible] W C Beatty of 202 South [illegible] street, where he viewed their [illegible] collection of pictures. [illegible] visited with his hosts. His [illegible] of the city included the [illegible] Memorial and other [illegible] of interest. He joined the [illegible]chestra at Piqua where a con[illegible] will be given tonight. Mr S[illegible]tzky expressed his pleasure [illegible] being in Marion and a hope to return at some future time.

War Movies Shown To Exchange Club

Members of the Marion Exchange club were shown captured German films of an airborne [illegible]tack on Holland in May 1940 at [illegible] meeting Thursday night in Hotel Harding. The films were shown by Capt. A L Stevens and Sgt C H Oberdier of the Marion Army recruiting station.

The program was arranged by [illegible] Beekman, Exchange club [illegible]sident. Program arrangements for the next three months were made.

DAYTON MAN SPEAKS AT KIWANIS MEETING

Tells of Organization To Promote World Understanding.

John S Moore of Dayton, executive secretary of the United Nations Association, which was formerly known as the Dayton Post War Council, was guest speaker at the Kiwanis club weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding. His subject was "The New [illegible] of M[illegible] of the United Nations." The Dayton organization has received nationwide publicity on its efforts to promote world understanding.

The association is composed of representatives of large business firms who do international business and their purpose is to promote world peace trade through the United Nations.

Fifty-one nationalities are represented in the association, Mr Moore explained, and an outstanding feature is that people from the various countries mingle in an effort to know each other better.

He also said the speeches that are made during the meetings are interpreted and reported in the various languages represented.

Guests were Harry Chambers of Marion, [illegible] Brinkkamp of Dallas, Tex, and Van L Denney of Eaton, Ind.

Candidates Initiated At D. of A. Meeting

Two new candidates were initiated and three applications for membership were received to be initiated at the next meeting, when Paramount Council No 37, Daughters of America, met Thursday night in the I O O F hall. Also at the next meeting the annual inspection will be held with Mrs Lessie Thompson, district deputy, as inspecting officer.

Announcement was made of the past councilors meeting to be held Monday at the home of Mrs Mildred Rayner on Latourette street, with Mrs Virginia Egnor as assistant hostess. Plans were made to attend a district past councilors meeting March 1 with Bell of Liberty Council in Galion and also a union meeting Friday, March 7 in Mansfield.

CLUB TO TAKE PART IN WORLD YOUTH DRIVE

Hi-Y Group Discusses Plans in Meeting Here.

Participation in a "World Youth Fund" campaign to raise funds to build up Y M C A's in 15 war-shattered countries was discussed Thursday night at a meeting of the Live Y's Hi-Y club.

The club, organized last fall, is composed of ninth grade boys of Vernon Heights Junior high school and has a membership of 17.

The group discussed means of raising funds to aid in the rehabilitation work. Among suggestions was selling pencils imprinted with the school fight song. The matter was referred to the service committee.

Don Sherwood, WMRN sports announcer, was guest speaker.

Officers of the club are Jack Peak, president, John Price, vice president, Harry Dowler Jr, secretary, Greg Graham, treasurer, Guy Stoner, 4th, sergeant-at-arms, and William Barnhart, chaplain.

Committee chairmen are Don Knoggle, program, William Barnhart, worship, Lester Smith, membership; Greg Graham, initiation, and John Zimmerman, service.

Elks Plan Special Class Initiation

Twenty-three applications were balloted on and plans made for initiation at a meeting of Marion Lodge of Elks Thursday night. The class, which will be known as the "Class of Peace," will be initiated next Thursday night. Purchase of a 16 MM film projector for use by the lodge and Elks Woman's club was announced.

Officers Installed By D. of A. Council

Mrs Pauline Snyder was installed as outside sentinel at a meeting of Mary A. Canfield Council No 210, Daughters of America, Thursday night in the Democratic hall. Installing officer was Mrs Elva Sutton, and she was assisted by Mrs Cordelia Starner and Mrs Ruby Bogart as flag bearers.

Arrangements were made for members to attend a district past councilors meeting March 1 in Galion, and also a union meeting March 7 in Mansfield. An announcement was made that a district rally will be held here April 10 in the Eagles hall instead of in Bucyrus as formerly planned. The past councilors meeting for Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Hazel Thomasson on Olney avenue, with Mrs Beryl Faust as assistant hostess, was also announced.

HOSTESS TO CLASS

Mrs Jessie Ellery of Bradford street was hostess for a meeting of the R F A G class of Epworth Methodist Sunday school Tuesday night. Mrs Helen Meredith conducted devotions on the theme, "Stepping in the Light" and for the program Mr. and Mrs Robert Blankenship gave a portrayal of the life of Christ in flannelgraph pictures. Guests were Mr and Mrs Blankenship, Mrs Susie Hamilton, Miss Margaret Laufman and Miss Eathel Finley. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs Hazel Fields, Mrs Irene Clark, Mrs. Grace Ulmer and Misses Cleo and Eathel F[illegible]le. A meeting in March will be with Mrs Lavonne Schweinfurth of Cherry street.

Civil Service Group Formed

Public Employes in Marion County Organize Chapter of State Association.

Organization of a Marion County chapter and election of officers was effected when the Ohio Civil Service Employes association met Wednesday night at the Y M C A. Lou C Radcliffe, from the state office, in Columbus, presided. During the evening Mr Radcliffe discussed a number of bills before the state legislature affecting state employes.

G C McCreight of the bureau of unemployment compensation, was elected president, John Passters of the state highway department vice president, Homer K Henderson of the division of Aid for the Aged, second vice president, Fred B Scherff of the Ohio state employment service, third vice president, and Miss Irene C Cunningham of the Ohio state employment service secretary-treasurer. The newly-elected president announced that another meeting would be held in the near future.

Among the bills discussed by Mr Radcliffe were House Bill No 323 Hunt, to provide increased salaries retroactive to Jan 1, 1947, for state employes that would double all legislative increases now in effect.

House Bill No 322 Hunt-Hawley, which would provide for the abolishment of the present civil service commission, create a personnel board of five members, consisting of a personnel administrator, a board of appeals and other drastic changes.

Senate Bill No 52 Hildebrand, to provide sick leave of one and one-fourth days for each month of service accumulative to 120 days, which would include hourly and per diem workers.

House Bill No 164 Hunt, to provide a 40-hour work week for certain state employes and provides for time-off and overtime.

Mention was also made of suggested change and improvements in the public employes retirement system.

Presbyterian Circle Elects New Officers

Election of officers was held when Circle 3 of the First Presbyterian church met Thursday afternoon with Miss Berneice Christian on South Greenwood street. Mrs H F Shackelford served as assistant hostess.

Mrs A F Lantzer was chosen to serve as leader, Mrs Harry S Elliott vice leader, Mrs Shackelford, secretary, and Mrs Gerald Walker treasurer.

Prayer and a poem on "Progression" by Mrs Lantzer opened the meeting. Mrs L E Meister conducted devotions from the 22nd chapter of Matthew, and Mrs H L Sh[illegible] gave the lesson study on "The Night of the Tempest" taken from the study book, "The Great Nights of the Bible." A report was given by Mrs Lantzer on a recent general aid meeting and a social hour followed. The next meeting will be a potluck supper at the home of Mrs Lantzer on Pearl street.

GUN SHOT FATAL TO H. PAUL BAKER

Found Dead at Home; Funeral Set for Monday.

H. Paul Baker, 39, was found dead in a bedroom, at his home at 401 South Prospect street last night by his wife. He had been shot through the head with a .410 shotgun.

Coroner Frederick T. Merchant issued a certificate of death by suicide. The shotgun was found beside the body.

Mrs. Baker had returned home after picking up her sister after work. She had previously brought Mr. Baker home from his job at McMillen Feed Co. He had been in ill health during the last two years.

He was born in Marion Dec. 26, 1907 and lived here most of his life. He married Bertha Rothfuss at Newtown, O. on April 9, 1944. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Baker were born in Marion. His mother Mrs. John R. Jones of LaRue, survives. He was a member of Buckeye Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Surviving, in addition to his widow and mother are three brothers and three sisters. They are Howard of Chicago, Alfred of Waldo, A. J. Baker of Fountain street, Mrs. E. W. Imbody of Marion, Mrs. Albert Walton of Columbus and Mrs. Ruth Ford of LaRue. Another sister, Mrs. Rose Scranton, preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held at the Boyd and Uncapher funeral home Monday at 2 p. m. Rev. F. Melvin Wentz of Green Camp will officiate and burial will be in Marion cemetery. The body is now at the Baker home on South Prospect street. Friends may call there until Monday at 10 a. m

Schuster, supporting the statement that his efforts to enforce the law were frustrated, cited two specific instances.

He testified he reported that the Greek Political club of Warren was known as a gambling place, but nevertheless a permit was granted it.

Turning to the American Hellenic club of Canton, he said his "flying squadron" raided the place on three successive Saturday nights and the management paid more than $8,000 in fines. The club did not have a permit then, he said, but he has been reliably informed that it now has one.

Public hearings will be resumed Monday at 2 p. m. and Schuster heud himself ready for a possible recall.

Appendicitis-Stricken Youth Was Driving with Friend—a Surgeon.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, Feb 21—John Moro, 20-year-old student at the University of Dayton, dined at a Columbus restaurant with a friend last night.

In mid-meal, he collapsed with appendicitis and underwent an operation at Mt. Carmel hospital. But Moro went to dinner equipped for all circumstances.

The friend with whom he dined was a surgeon.

thousands were delayed for hours by traffic tie-ups.

Snow and ice in the western mountains of North Carolina forced some schools to close and delayed transportation. Below-freezing temperature struck the central portions of both Carolinas.

The winter's heaviest snowstorm blanketed Pennsylvania under drifts four feet deep. In Pittsburgh, where the snowfall stopped after reaching a depth of 10 inches, intercity buses were running four hours late.

Six to eight inches of snow fell in southern New England.

While the east bucked snowdrifts, the southwest waited in vain for needed moisture.

Fair and continued cold today and tomorrow was forecast for the midwest.

Heaviest Snowfall Covers Southern Ohio

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, , Feb. 21—The winter's heaviest snowfall covered southern and eastern Ohio today with five inches reported in some Ohio river towns.

George Mindling, meteorologist said skies were clear in western Ohio, except the Toledo area. Snowfalls in Cleveland, Columbus, Huntington and Pittsburgh were not expected to last long, he added.

He forecast not much change during the next five days in average temperatures which have been several degrees below the seasonal normal. Somewhat warmer weather Sunday, Mindling said, would be followed by cold again Monday and Tuesday.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Company here is continuing curtailment of supplies to industrial customers through the weekend, Vice President E. M. Tharp said.

The company cut off industries Wednesday which could use oil or other fuel in operations and yesterday reduced the flow to other industrial users "to a trickle sufficient only to maintain employment," Tharp said.

The utility executive explained Ohio Fuel's reserve of stored gas was able to provide 150,000,000 cubic feet daily last Jan. 1, but had been so depleted by cold-weather demands it was now capable of furnishing only 90,000,000 cubic feet a day.

handed, she finds difficulty in eating.

Sally Ann, who was dubbed "Pittsburgh Sally" by fellow passengers on the train spent 11 months in Germany and France for the Red Cross. Recently she had been living in Murrysville, Pa., with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McQuiston, her uncle and aunt.

Her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Ortega, waited in vain in New York for her to arrive on the "Red Arrow."

Sally Ann said she was asleep when the train plunged from the rails.

"I woke up with the first jolt," she recounted. "When the car stopped rolling, my left hand was pinned down. I was lying on the windows, my right hand outside the window, and I was covered with luggage."

She heard screams from many people. A porter, carrying a flashlight, moved the baggage, but for four hours she lay helpless — just talking. She couldn't see any one, but it was learned later she had been conversing with Rabbi George Lieberman of Canton, Howard Kittleberger of Cleveland, and other injured passengers.

"She was a great consolation to me," said the rabbi. "She was very brave."

MARKET RESUMES HALTING RECOVERY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—Stocks resumed their slow-going recovery in today's market with favorites adding fractions to around 2 points.

Buying, still largely of a professional nature was based partly on the thought that the market was in a better technical condition as a result of its recent decline.

The foreign picture again tended to cool enthusiasm.

Better performers included International Harvester (in the wake of a boosted quarterly payment), Union Carbide, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, American Can, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, Southern Pacific and Norfolk and Western.

Assorted railway bonds edged upward. Commodities were mixed.

EXPLOSION

Negro riding his bicycle several blocks away died under a plummeting piece of metal.

Four houses were almost wrecks, windows were broken in 300 within a mile radius, glass shattered as far distant as 70 blocks, the entire downtown district was jolted as if by earthquake, sending terrorized citizens to telephones, quickly jamming police and newspaper lines.

12 Companies Battle Fire

Twelve fire companies battled the resultant blaze and a dozen spot fires started by flaming debris in the neighborhood.

A towering cloud of smoke, which many witnesses likened to that in newsreels of the Bikini atom bomb blast, mushroomed up, hung over the area for minutes

Thousands of curious thronged into the area, hampering fire and rescue operations and doing some looting, but were finally cleared out by emergency police squads.

A graphic description came from DeWayne Bearss, 22, of South Gate, a salesman , who with his father, Frank, was in the front office on business:

"One minute we were sitting in an orderly office. The next minute there wasn't any office. I was thrown to the floor. I didn't know what happened to Dad. I heard him groaning on the other side of a section of roof that crashed between us. I was lucky. All the wreckage around me was light. I was able to dig myself out."

The elder Bearss, 44, was dead when rescuers reached him.

Lillian O'Connor, 43, daughter of the owner, was among the seriously injured. She told investigators that normally 25 persons were employed, but that only 15 were at work yesterday.

The building department promptly posted more than a score of homes and buildings in a radius of several blocks as unsafe, and unhurt occupants were being cared for by relief agencies.

TWO CINCINNATI MEN KILLED BY EXPLOSION

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Feb. 21 — An explosion and fire killed two men and seriously burned another today in the sawdust house of the M. B. Farrin Lumber Co., in the outlying community of Winton Place on Cincinnati's northside.

Harry J. Grafe, 49, and James Collins, 31, died hortly after their flaming bodies were blown from the structure. General hospital listed Mosie Tucker, 38, as in critical condition. All three were employes of the lumber company.

Fire Marshal Joseph Devine said cause of the blast had not been determined.

Charles Ogley, night watchman, who had punched his clock a minute before the blast said:

"There was a terrific noise and concussion. I rushed outside my office in the nearby mill building and saw a flaming figure lying on the ground about 20 feet from the sawdust house. I ran to him and tore his burning clothing from his body."

Police Lt. Harry Toberige, who was near the scene, said the explosion shook his automobile and he saw flames shoot 80 feet in the air from the three-story frame structure.

TAFT

But in other liberated coun- yet the case and what remains tries, Mr. Truman said this is not to be done, while relatively small and limited in time and scope, is "none-the-less vitally important."

To leave the task unfinished, he said, would be to "replace hope with despair in the hearts of these peoples and thus to undermine the spiritual and economic stability upon which our own hopes for a better world must rest."

Only Basic Contributions

Mr. Truman said he thought the relief contribution should be used only for providing such basic essentials as medical supplies, food, and items which will aid in the production of foodstuffs.

His message summed up:

"The United States, in keeping with our traditions of immediate and wholehearted response to human need, has stood in the forefront of those who have checked the forces of starvation, disease, suffering and chaos which threatened to engulf the world in the wake of the war.

"The task is nearly finished. I urge the congress to act promptly to insure that we do not stop short of the goal; that we do not endanger the permanence of the gains we have helped to achieve."

elaborating in his prepared statement, that when "evenness of administration" has been established under the rules of NLRB procedure, "then it will be reasonable to require unions to abide by board certification without recourse to strikes for the purpose of coercing employers to violate the law of the land."

But he said flatly that unions engaging in such strikes "should not be afforded the protection of a law which such unions have voluntarily and willfully flouted." He urged that these unions "be deprived of their rights before the board for a period of one year."

This would permit employers to fire such strikers. They also would lose their bargaining rights.

While Lynch threw his support to this provision, he cautioned against any major overhauling of the Wagner act such as proposed by Ball.

GREEN CAMP DOWNS M'MILLEN 26 TO 16

Green Camp K. of P. became the second round champ of the Y double A league last night by downing McMillen Feeds 26 to 16 while Stone's Grill, another candidate for the top rung, bowed unexpectedly to Fairfield Engineering 56 to 36. In the other league game Smith's Clothing downed Claridon Ex-Hi 36 to 31.

Green Camp and McMillen will meet at the Y next Thursday night for a play-off game to decide the championship of the league and a play-off game for the B loop crown will also be held.

In a Hi-Y game Shamrocks downed Harding juniors 47 to 29.

JUNIOR COLLEGE MEETING SCHEDULED FOR SUNDAY

Group Will Weigh Action To Establish Ohio Schools.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, Feb 21—The Ohio State Friends of the Public Schools will meet Sunday to discuss legislation which would permit Ohio public school boards to establish junior colleges.

Dr. Jesse P. Bogue, executive secretary of the American Association of Junior Colleges, Washington, D. C., was scheduled to speak on "the need for public junior colleges in Ohio."

In a letter announcing the meeting, executive-secretary Walter G. O'Donnell of the Ohio State university economics department, said public junior colleges in California enabled 22,000 of 62,000 high school graduates to continue their education in 1938-39, compared to 12,000 of 65,000 Ohio high school graduates who went to college that year.

The Ohio Friends of the Public Schools, headed by Dr. A. W. Elliot, editor of the Ohio magazine, is composed largely of legislative chairmen and educational directors of statewide organization.

4 TRAPPED BESIDE SMASHED UP SAFE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 21—Four men who identified themselves as war veterans attending Kent State university were trapped and arrested today in a ravine in Orange township, beside a smashed safe which had been stolen from Ravenna.

Fifty police surrounded the ravine and captured the unarmed men, who offered no resistance.

Police Chief Charles Vajner of Orange township, who first spotted the men breaking into the 600-pound strong box, said $187.19 taken from the safe was found in the pocket of one of them.

He said all four admitted taking the safe last night from the Paul Milles Farm Equipment Co. in Ravenna, and declared they needed money for living expenses. They also contended it was their first crime, he added.

W. VA. COVERED BY BLANKET OF SNOW

By The Associated Press

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb 21 — Winter laid a paralyzing blanket of snow over West Virginia today that reached depths of 20 inches, closing schools in at least eight counties and blocking secondary roads throughout the state.

Bus service still had not been restored between Beckley and Bluefield, the hardest hit area of the state where the state road commission said as much as 20 inches covered the ground.

As road crews opened primary routes, they were turning their attention to secondary highways, the road commission said.

Officials in Charelston headquarters reported primary highways had been opened, but at Beckley no Greyhound arrivals from Bluefield had been reported at mid-morning.

Bus service, however, was reinstated by the Consolidated lines although coaches were operating behind schedules.

Patriotic Program Given by Grange

A Washington and Lincoln program was presented at a meeting of Bethlehem Grange Wednesday night in the Grange hall. A talk on "The Life of Abraham Lincoln" and "Today's Crisis," was given by S. W. Almendinger.

Other numbers on the program included a vocal duet, "The Song of the Hatchet," by Misses Esther and Marilyn Lindley; readings by Frank Howald and Mrs. Joe Mahaffey; a novelty number sung by a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williams, Miss Louise Bender and Walter Bender; and a pantomime, "Mt. Vernon Bells" by Mrs. H. H. Berringer, Mrs. Gail Smith and Mrs. Paul Fogle, accompanied at the piano by Miss Hazel Clunk.

Mrs. Ralph Williams was elected to the office of reporter to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Miss Louise Augenstein. Plans were made by the Grange to take a trip to the Perkins observatory near Delaware in the near future, and it was voted to send the lecturer, Mrs. Robert Howald, to the Lecturers Short Course to be held in March at Ohio State university.

An announcement was made of the meeting of Pomona Grange to be held March 1 at the Tymochtee Grange hall. On March 26, Bethlehem Grange will confer the third degree at Morral in connection with the countywide degree meetings planned for the month of March. The next meeting will be Thursday, March 6. The night was changed due to the county meeting scheduled for March 3 at Kirkpatrick. The program will be "An Irish Radio Program," and serving on the refreshment committee will be Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mahaffey and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Grates.

"Are you in the doghouse? Here's how to get out!"

"Canine tenements can't hold anyone with imagination!" smiles Elsie. "Such a person goes home carrying a generous package of that famous Borden's ice cream, and all is well. Especially if it's that new flavor treat, Borden's CHERRY-VANILLA ice cream . . . rich and tasty, and full of chopped cherries. There's a Borden dealer near you."

Trautman To Speak at Baseball Banquet April 24

Cubs Land Minor League Boss for Second Annual Diamond Season Opener.

George M. Trautman of Columbus, recently elected president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, will be the principal speaker at the second annual Marion baseball banquet April 24 at Hotel Harding.

This is a return performance as he was speaker at the affair last year when he was vice president and general manager of the Detroit Tigers.

GEORGE M. TRAUTMAN
To Appear Here

Trautman, a former Bucyrian, resigned this post to take the one he holds at present, succeeding Judge W. G. Bramham whose offices were in Durham, N. C.

W. Dexter Hazen, president of the Marion baseball club, 18 officials and directors of the organization, and 14 civic and business leaders signed the invitation to Trautman.

The letter read in part, "although this is in reality an invitation, we would like to have you accept it in the spirit that you are being drafted for a repeat performance in Marion. We feel that our annual banquet could not be a success without you as our speaker."

In his reply Trautman declared," "Well, I have had a lot of invitations in my day but never one comparable to that which reached my desk from Marion, Ohio.

"I shall make every effort to be with you on the 24th of April."

He further stated that because of the confusion of moving into his Columbus offices he had to decline many out-of-town engagements.

The plans for the banquet are being made by the Inter-Club Council which is composed of members from Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, Y's Men, Exchange club, and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Last year's banquet was held the night before the diamond reason opened but this year that is not possible. The Cubs open in Lima Sunday, April 27, and will make their first home appearance April 29.

Mystery Man, Reynolds Win Armory Grapples

The Mystery Man took one of last night's main goes at the Armory taking the first and third falls from Dutch Schultz.

In the other main go Davie Reynolds also took the first and third to win from Young Sandow.

In the preliminary James Foltz and George Baldwin took a tag team match from Rex Mattox and James Morgan.

Irish in Wind-Up Tilt at Columbus

St. Mary cagers climax a 20-game schedule at Columbus tonight against Columbus Rosary.

Earlier in the season the Rosarians downed the locals 55 to 44. The Irish have a present record of 14 wins and five stumbles.

St. Mary's probable starts are Bray and Schuler forwards, Drake center, and Balduaf and Stuber guards.

Following tonight's game the Irish cagers will tune up for their tournament battles at Westerville in the class B fracas.

York Wins Union Co. Consolation Tourney

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Feb. 21 — The third representative from Union county to the district tournaments at Westerville was decided here last night as York took a consolation game from Raymond 38 to 26.

Already certain of making the trip, Magnetic Springs and Broadway meet tonight to decide who will be crowned county champion.

REVENGE SWEET TO CAP'S AGGREGATION

Whip Otterbein 53-43 To Enhance Chance for Ohio Lead.

By The Associated Press

Revenge was triple-sweet for Capital university's high-flying basketball tossers today.

The Lutherans thumped Otterbein's Cardinals, 53 to 43, last night to avenge an earlier defeat, establish a new season scoring record and move within two games of a clean sweep of Ohio college cage honors.

Those 53 points gave Capital 1,059 points for 18 games thus far, surpassing a previous high of 1,042 set in 17 games in the 1944-45 season.

That victory, Cap's second this week, secured the Lutheran lead in the Ohio conference and the state-wide title chase as well. The Lutherans have won 12 and lost one in the loop and have a 14-2 rating against all opponents—a mark no other college quintet can equal if Capital can win its final games against Heidelberg Tuesday and Kenyon March 3.

Another scoring record tumbled at Springfield, too, as Gene Fellmeth of Wittenberg pitched in 25 points in leading his team to a 68-53 conference triumph over Ashland. Fellmeth boosted his total for the campaign to 330 points, bettering by 23 the mark left behind by Cliff Hesket, a Wittenberg luminary of seven years ago.

In another conference go, Muskingum's Muskies, paced by forward Larry Kukura's early sharpshooting, rolled to a 66-43 decision over Denison's Big Red. Kukura bagged 27 points during the evening, 20 of them in the first half to stake Muskingum to a 38-24 halftime advantage.

Wins Essay

Outfielder Gets Job with Tribe On Strength of Letter.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 21 — The Cleveland Indians today had concluded the most unusual deal in baseball this winter.

Wayne Blackburn, 29-year-old minor league outfielder, was purchased from the Indianapolis club of the American Association, after he wrote a three-page letter to Tribe President Bill Veeck and stated why he thought he could help the Indians.

Veeck said he didn't know whether Blackburn had ever won any prizes in essay contests but he did recall that the hustling fly chaser caused Milwaukee pitchers plenty of headaches when Veeck operated that franchise.

The aspiring Indian was frank in his approach for a job, and called Veeck's attention to the fact that he'd just finished his poorest season in baseball with an unimpressive .267 average.

He blamed his showing on leg miseries received when he tried to play too quickly after his discharge from the army. Blackburn overcame the handicap by mid-August and went on a batting spree that boosted his average 60 points. He hit safely in his last 18 games and topped this off with a .450 hitting mark in the 11 play-off games.

In his previous six years in professional baseball, Blackburn hit under .300 only once. He throws left handed and bats right.

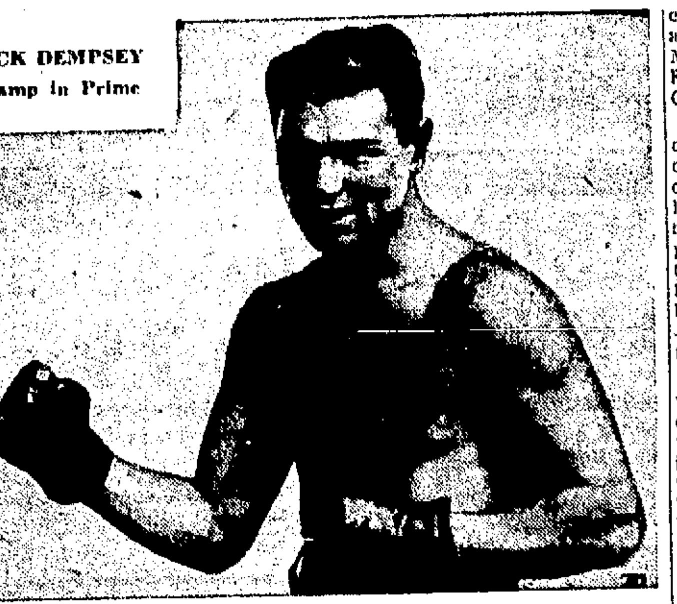
Dempsey Put Gold in Golden Age of Sports

BY FRANK ECK

Associated Press Sports Editor



JACK DEMPSEY
Champ in Prime

NEW YORK — The world's heavyweight boxing championship has been held by Joe Louis since 1937. Yet when veteran boxing men get together and compare the current postwar interest in fisticuffs with the period following World War 1, they invariably return to Jack Dempsey and the first Golden Age of sports.

Dempsey was the greatest drawing card of them all. When he lost the title in 1926 to Gene Tunney, boxing's top crowd of 120,757 turned out in Philadelphia. Receipts were $1,895,733. And when he sought to regain the crown from Tunney the following year, the battle of the famous "long count" drew receipts of $2,658,660, largest gate in boxing history.

Second of a Series

Of the eight boxing bouts which drew more than one million dollars in gross receipts, Dempsey figured in five. The first million-dollar gate was the 1921 Dempsey-Carpentier fight which attracted 80,183 fans and $1,789,238 to Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City. Ringside seats were $50.

Most Dramatic Fight

Two years later Dempsey drew another million-dollar gate when he met Argentina's Wild Bull of the Pampas, Luis Angel Firpo. He flattened the South American in two rounds in what veterans still describe as the most dramatic heavyweight scrap of all time.

Firpo sent Dempsey to the floor with his first punch. But in a few seconds the tables were reversed, Dempsey knocking the Argentine down seven times before the end of the first round. Yet the South American had enough stamina left to drive Dempsey through the ropes.

In the second round Firpo made three more trips to the canvas and the end came in 58 seconds. Dempsey received a purse of $470,000 or approximately $120,000 a minute.

Dempsey drew a million-dollar gate even in a non-title bout with Jack Sharkey. The Manassa Mauler—he was born in Manassa, Colo., June 24, 1895—stopped the Boston tar in seven rounds.

Dempsey had color in and out of the ring, the sort of color that made Babe Ruth the biggest attraction in baseball, Bobby Jones in golf and Bill Tilden in tennis.

He rose from a kid who "rode the rods" to world's champion in six years. His first fight was under his own promotion in 1915 when he stopped a young Colorado blacksmith, Freddy Woods, in four rounds. Dempsey and Woods split a gate of $46.

Although he fought in the days of such ring giants as Jess Willard, Fred Fulton and Carl Morris, Dempsey rose to boxing's heights on the strength of the theory that "the bigger they are the harder they fall."

One of the quickest knockouts on record is held by Dempsey. In 1918 he flattened the 235-pound Morris in 14 seconds at New Orleans. Five months earlier he knocked out Fulton in 18 seconds.

Dempsey won the heavyweight title on a hot Independence Day in Toledo in 1919 when he knocked out Willard in three rounds. Willard, at 245 pounds, held a 58-pound weight advantage as Dempsey came in at 187.

Jack held the title for seven years, or until Tunney beat him over the 10-round distance in Philadelphia. The Manassa Mauler made successful title defenses against Mike Brennan and Billy Miske in 1920, Carpentier, the Frenchman, in 1921, and Mike Gibbons and Firpo in 1923.

At 32 Dempsey was a veteran of 80 fights. He won 48 by knockouts and lost only four. He was out of the ring three years after losing his return fight with Tunney but his retirement was temporary. He came back in 1931, touring the country in exhibition bouts for two years. He quit again but in 1940 he gave 25 exhibitions —most of them one rounders—at the age of 45.

It was a rare occasion, indeed, when Dempsey received a weight concession. He outweighed only three of the seven men he met in championship bouts — Carpentier was 172, Gibbons 175½ and Tunney 189½. Dempsey weighed between 185 and 192 during his fistic career.

Knocked Out Only Once

Dempsey suffered the only knockout in his career during his first two years in the ring. Jim Flynn stopped him in the first round at Salt Lake City in 1917. A year and a day later Jack evened the score, flattening Flynn in the first round at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Starting with the Willard bout and ending with the second Tunney battle, Dempsey earned $2,700,000 in nine fights. He has been in many business ventures and has had interests in two New York restaurants, a local hotel and has been president of a boxing promoters' group.

Nat Fleischer, boxing's noted historian, estimates that Dempsey made more than $500,000 as a referee following his "retirement" in 1927.

He attained his great popularity after he quit the ring, but Dempsey will be remembered as the heavyweight among heavyweights.

PREXIES BEGIN DRILL FOR TOURNEY JOUST

Seek To Improve Chances of Staying Around Awhile.

Harding cagers Wednesday started the first of a series of drills designed to mould them them into a smooth working outfit when they enter the district tournament at Delaware next week.

The Presidents, with a record of four wins and 11 losses during the regular season, however, aren't given much chance of sticking around at these meets.

Favored in the tournament are Upper Arlington, one of the two undefeated quintets in the state, Columbus Central, Columbus East, and Newark.

In all probability one of these clubs will get the Chief Executives as a stepping stone to the next round.

Despite an underdog role, the Prexies aren't throwing in the towel yet. With ten of their regular games gone the Prexies took on new life this season and served notice to all comers that they were going to be tougher.

The Prexies performances still leave much to be desired and the object of a week's strenuous drill will be to iron out evident flaws and condition them for tournament play.

Drawing for the tournament, which opens next Tuesday, will be held at Delaware tomorrow morning.

Janiro-Jack Battle on WMRN Tonight

Beau Jack, Georgia's ball of fire, who twice held the world lightweight title, returns to Madison Square Garden tonight to prove his merit as a leading contender for welter honors. He tackles Tony Janiro (above), the fistic wonder boy from Youngstown, in the ten-round feature event.

The Beau's idea of fightin' is to fight. He takes a headlong bead on the guy in the other corner and away he goes—right into high. He's a swing-from-the-floor slasher, a sharp-shooting left being his soundest weapon.

Janiro, however, is no powder puff. His record embraces 57 wins in 60 contests. Tony is brilliant, works in a businesslike manner and is never flustered. His left hook is a study of precision and he strikes his foe with the impact of a piston.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WMRN (1490 on your dial) at 10 p. m.

And remember men . . . LOOK sharp! FEEL sharp! BE sharp! Use Gillette Blue Blades with the sharpest edges ever honed!

Pleasant, Morral in Consolation Finals

Pleasant and Morral won the right to play in the consolation finals tomorrow night with victories in the semi-final round of the consolation tourney played at Morral last night. Pleasant spanked Green Camp 51 to 41 and Morral came from behind to defeat LaRue 36 to 29.

The two quintets will play for third place in the county meet as a preliminary to the championship match between Claridon and Caledonia on the New Bloomington floor tomorrow night starting at 7:30.

In the opener last night LaRue led most of the way, but at the first quarter Morral held a one point advantage of 8 to 7, then LaRue again forged ahead to have Coach Norman Weston's fighting lads tie it up at half time at 16 all. LaRue again went to the front in the third session and held a single point lead when the hectic stanza was over at 21 to 20.

Scoring 16 markers in the final period to 8 for LaRue, the winners put the game on ice. Morral dominated the backboard play throughout the contest.

Charles Leeth donning the LaRue spangles for the last time was the games leading point maker as he cracked the nets for 14 points. Merritt the small Morral center, led the winners with 12 points.

Mayers Turns on Steam

With Charles Mayers hitting from all angles on the floor and scorching the cords for 24 points, Pleasant overcame an early Green Camp lead and led 19 to 14 at the intermission. The Panthers pulled up to within one point of the eventual winners at 24 to 23 with four minutes gone in the third period, then Mayers, who had been held somewhat in check in the early part of the game, took over for the Townshippers and scored 11 straight points before Green Camp could score on a follow up by Jerew. The final quarter was played on fairly even terms, but the damage had been done to the Green Camp cause.

Jerew led the losing cause for the Panthers with 19 points. Hensel high scoring Camper was held to 8.

Top Game Coming Up

The championship game between Claridon and Caledonia which will start around 9 p. m. Saturday following the Pleasant-Morral elimination joust, is expected to prove one of the best final games in the history of the Marion county meet. Each team lost one contest in leage play.

Green Camp eked out a 41 to 40 win over the Donians. Coach Thurman Wright's elongated cagers defeated Claridon in mid-season 42 to 21. At that time Coach Pearson's defending champs were in a slight slump and were without the services of Irey, clever guard and backboard performer. The contest was also played on the small floor at Caledonia. However, what is thought to be the best team in Caledonia loop history can match the experienced Claridon five in every phase of the game.

The scoring power of Freet, Comstock and Fleming make up for any defensive weaknesses the Donians have. Jim Ruth, clever cager of the Claridon team who is a great competitor and can hit when it counts, plus the always strong defensive play of the defending champs will give the contest all the thrills the net game has to offer.

CLEVELAND LIKELY TO SEE GRAZIANO BOUT

Chastened Fighter To Joust There, Promotor Says.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 21—Cleveland fight fans will be the first to see Rocky Graziano, banned by the New York State Athletic commission for not reporting a bribe attempt, when he returns to the ring outside his home state, Larry Atkins, matchmaker, said today.

Atkins, who held a long distance telephone conversation with Graziano's handlers, said Rocky was "just about certain to make his next fight in Cleveland." Graziano's opponent, Atkins said, probably would be the winner of next Monday's bout here between Cleveland's Chuck Hunter and Jerry Fiorello of Brooklyn, former national amateur lightweight titleholder.

Graziano is free to fight outside of New York state. But who will fight him? Anyone who does may meet the same fate as the leading middleweight contender who had his New York license revoked several weeks ago on a charge of failure to report a $100,000 offer to throw a fight.

Col. Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York commission, has maintained a discreet silence on this angle since the National Boxing association (NBA) announced on Tuesday that its member states were free to disregard the New York ruling.

me to known."

I saw that my ruse had succeeded. Junior's eyes were clear, so were Roderick's, and Dicky's held only amusement.

"Poor little sleuth!" my husband said. "Were her tender feelings hurt? Never mind! Papa'll give her some bonbons."

"Now, boys, you must go to bed, taking time out, of course, to rob the refrigerator."

When they had gone away, laughing, Dicky took me by the shoulders, and grinned understandingly at me.

"You're an adorable, cock-eyed liar," he said.

Programs on the Air

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—Song favorites of past decades have been picked as the really appropriate way to celebrate when Highways of Melody goes on NBC at 8 p. m. to start its twenty-first year of continuous broadcasting.

This 20-year-old program, presented at the same hour on the same network by the same sponsor since Feb. 18, 1927, remains basically the same musical feature it started out to be, a concert of general favorites, both popular and semi-classical.

The present conductor is Paul Lavalle, who joined the show Oct. 27, 1944. Coincidental with the anniversary, Lavalle has announced an annual music scholarship of $1,500 to a student chosen by the Nation Federation of Music Clubs after auditions in 14 districts.

DR. RICE CITES PRAYER NEEDS

Evangelist Points Way To Soul Saving; Tonight's Program Announced

The need of prayer in winning souls to God was emphasized by Dr. John R. Rice in his sermon on "The High Cost of Revivals," at last night's union evangelistic service in the Star auditorium. Sunday school night was observed and the set of books, awarded by Dr. Rice to the congregation having the largest percentage of attendance, was presented to Emmanuel Baptist church. Tonight has been designated as "Family Night" and also "Scout Night" and the sermon topic will be "Father, Mother, Home and Heaven." Troops sponsored by fraternal organizations, schools and other groups are invited to join with Scout troops of the participating congregations for tonight's services. Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock there will be a children's meeting at Trinity Baptist church.

Last night's congregation numbered 475.

Places Emphasis on Prayer

"God can give a revival but He does not have any fire sales on revivals," Dr. Rice told his listeners. Pointing out that extended seasons of prayer in Bible times brought revivals, he said it would be mighty good for us to have some all-night prayer meetings now. Continuing, he said: "We can not reach sinners today because we have not reached God. You need not be afraid of all the sinners there are if you have learned to prevail on God in prayer."

Dr. Rice told his audience he would be ashamed if, when he met Jesus, he would have to say he had never spent a night in prayer, and reminded them that Jesus went up into the mountain to pray.

Rev. R. W. Faulkner presided and prayer was by Rev. Marvin Lewis. Rev. Garrison Roebuck was in charge of the offering.

Sunday School List

Sunday schools represented included Calvary, Oakland and Greenwood Evangelical United Brethren, Salem Evangelical United Brethren, First Evangelical United Brethren, Fite Memorial, Trinity, Emmanuel and Green Camp Baptist churches, First and Forest Lawn Presbyterian, Nazarene, Pilgrim Holiness, Salvation Army, Epworth and Wesley Methodist, Christian Missionary Alliance and Church of the Brethren.

Ministers present included Rev. J. B. Holloway, Rev. Earl Holliday, Rev. R. A. Maugans, Rev. Clem Hershey, Rev. R. W. Faulkner, Rev. H. V. Fulor, Rev. R. L. Sutherland, Rev. Marvin Lewis, Rev. Garrison Roebuck, Rev. W. E. Zimmerman, Rev. E. M. Hertzler, Rev. L. V. Bauguess and Rev. N. H. Billings.

Harry D. Clarke was the song leader and pianists were Mrs. Wesley Chatfield and Mrs. J. W. Baker.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"I SEE I shall have to refresh your memory," my father told the Nazi prisoner. "You know the ocean front estate of—" he pronounced a name which brought terror into the prisoner's eyes. "Our people have permitted your submarines to refuel there for purposes of our own. But, after yours has been destroyed, we shall attend to the owner of that estate, and everything we find there. Nothing shall escape.

"As for your signals — boys! Bring the other man in."

When Hans appeared in the doorway, the prisoner lunged forward in the grasp of Harry and Mr. 'K,' so sudden a movement that he almost broke their grasp.

The next instant he was jerked back again, while Junior and Roderick gripped with their hard young hands the arms of Hans, white faced, whose eyes were glittering points of fire.

"Hans!" the prisoner roared. "Traitor to the Fuehrer, and the Fatherland. And I trusted you!"

A Hoarse Answer

"Yes," Hans said hoarsely. "As my sister trusted you. And I betrayed you, as you betrayed her. I will give your signals. I know them all."

"Your sister!" the prisoner protested, his iron composure shaken. "What—"

"Do you remember little Lisa Hagen!" Hans cried, and I saw remembrance — and something else—in the Nazi's eyes.

"I see you do," Hans said. "I have schemed for years to compass this vengeance. She killed herself, but this is more bitter than death to you.

"And," he taunted, "you think you can kill yourself at the last resort? I changed all your little deadly pills to harmess sedatives. And, the other night, when you were drunk, I changed the one you aways carry in so good a hiding place on your body."

I saw the color draining out of the prisoner's face now, and my father spoke sharply.

"'K'," he said, "You and Harry know all about this angle. Before you let this prisoner sleep, will you see that he is stripped and searched? Find him clothing and toilet things, but nothing of his own. Have his cigarets lit for him, and put into his mouth. Have his food all cut up for a spoon. And watch him every minute.

"Take him away now," he finished. "I do not want to see him until tomorrow night."

Spurt of Courage

The prisoner's head went up in a final spurt of courage.

"You think you have won," he said. "You may kill me. But the Fuehrer and the Fatherland will win, and you all will die horrible deaths. Heil Hitler!"

Harry and Mr. "K" as if one thought animated them, jerked his bound arms above his head in the Nazi salute.

"Give the condemned man a last good meal," Harry said. Then he and Mr. "K" took their prisoner away.

"We shall have a busy day tomorrow," my father said, when they had gone. "So good-night everybody, and sleep well!"

But Lee Chow began putting questions to my father across Dicky's wheel chair, and an instant later, I was sure that the maneuver was a purposeful one. For Hugh crossed to my chair and bent toward me, in such fashion that no one save myself could hear him or see his face.

Will Tell Everything

"I promised you," he said, "that I would tell you everything of the secret we brought with us. But the end has come so quickly that I cannot keep that promise. However, I shall ask your father to tell you everything. Good-night, my dearest. God keep you always safe."

As Hugh turned away, I found my eyes drawn irresistibly to those of my husband. He was quizzically watching me, but with a nuance of something less pleasant than humor in the glance.

But I was more startled at the expression in the eyes of my young son who stood close to his father. I wondered fearfully if there was a hint of censure in those young eyes which, for me, never have held anything but adoration.

The thought was not to be borne.

"Junior," I said quickly, "will you and Roderick wait a minute after the rest go? There's something I want you to do for me."

When everybody had gone, I came over to Dicky's side, and dropped companionably to a seat on the edge of his wheel chair.

"Boys," I said, "when you go down will you see if your grandmother is looking for any help? You don't need to come back unless she wants me. By the way, did you hear the elaborate broadcast Uncle Hugh was giving me just before he left?"

With a Grin

"One for earphone only," Dicky said with a grin.

"That was because he did not want Father to hear," I improvised, "But it really was good. His conscience was hurting him, I fancy. And it ought to. I was responsible for putting him and Lee Chow into sanctuary, for misleading the Nazi searchers, and for memorizing the stuff which I took to Uncle Jack. But he never has confided a single detail of the secret to me.

"Tonight, he told me that there was no time for him to keep a promise he had made to tell me about the secret, but that he would ask my father to tell me everything—and you know that means everything which Father wishes
